

POWERS LAUNCH NAVAL CONFERENCE

KING GEORGE OPENS NAVAL CONFERENCE WITH FIRST SPEECH

Trusts Parley Will Result In Navy Limitation

LONDON, Jan. 21.—Without pomp and with little or no ceremony, George V., Great Britain's sailor king, today officially opened the London naval conference.

It was a solemn scene, for all his immediate listeners realized the historic significance of the moment as his majesty stepped up before the gold and silver microphone reserved especially for his use and began his speech, which was broadcast to the ends of the earth and was heard by millions.

The setting was the royal gallery of the house of lords, the imposing chamber used normally as an assembly room by brilliantly-robed and gowned peers and peeresses preceding the state opening of the British parliament.

Today's scene had none of the color usually associated with the royal gallery. The king himself was in morning dress, and the majority of the audience were frock coated or in ordinary dark business suits.

The delegates of the five participating powers—the United States, Great Britain, Japan, France and Italy—were seated around a horseshoe table, separated at the apex for the accommodation of the throne chair on a dais.

They included the prime ministers of Great Britain and France, the foreign ministers of Great Britain, France and Italy, the secretary of state of the United States, naval ministers of all five powers and a half a dozen ambassadors.

The king entered the House of Lords by Norman Porch and proceeded by the grand staircase to the robing room. When he stepped across the threshold from the robing room into the royal gallery all those attending the opening session rose in their places. He then walked down the center of the gallery, between several rows of spectators on either side and took his seat on the throne chair.

Standing directly beneath a huge oil painting depicting the death of Nelson at Trafalgar, his majesty delivered the opening address of welcome.

Immediately after the delivery

(Continued on Page Two)

THAYER TO TESTIFY IN HIS OWN DEFENSE

CANTON, O., Jan. 21.—Defense attorneys began to wind up their cross examinations today in the trial of Albert L. Thayer, New Castle, Pa., architect, who is accused of having solicited a $7,500 bribe from George F. S. Melbourne, general contractor for the Molly Stark tuberculosis sanitarium.

Thayer was expected to take the stand in his own defense later in the day when the defense opens its case. He will probably deny the charges brought against him while his attorneys will seek to show that the accusations were prompted by "vengeful motives" resulting from an enmity between Thayer and Melbourne.

The state rested its case yesterday after having produced three witnesses who testified that Melbourne paid Thayer $6,500 of the money sought by the architect in connection with "juggled" specifications in the contract for the hospital.

WILL VISIT AKRON

CLEVELAND, Jan. 21.—Count Michael Karolyi, exiled Hungarian president of Hungary, will leave Cleveland today for a brief visit to Akron. He addressed two meetings here last night, one under the auspices of the Progressive Hungarian League and the other under the auspices of Anti-Fascist League.

HEAR KING GEORGE

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—Americans in every state of the union were among the world-wide radio listeners who heard King George of England open the London naval conference today.

American broadcasting concerns received the broadcast over short waves and then re-broadcast here.

The king's speech started shortly after 6 o'clock this morning, New York time, and was distinctly heard. The general reception here was good, although at times the broadcast was not plainly audible.

An ironic touch was given the broadcast of some New York studios, which sent out a program of the military anthems of various nations while waiting for the cross-the-Atlantic hook-up to function.

SEEKS DIVORCE

Lady Mary Heath, above, noted woman flyer, has filed suit for divorce in Reno, Nev., against Sir James Heath, her 73-year-old husband. She charges cruelty. They were married October 13, 1927. She came to Reno last summer after recovering from injuries suffered in an accident at the Cleveland air races.

HOPKINS TO DEFEND HIS REIGN AGAINST CLAIMS OF COUNCIL

To Represent Futile Gesture As Ouster Takes Effect

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 21.—Making somewhat of a futile gesture, but nevertheless, hoping to defend himself in the eyes of Cleveland's citizenry, William R. Hopkins, suspended city manager, will reply this afternoon to the charges preferred by city council as justification for his dismissal.

Literally and figuratively, Hopkins' reply to the ouster charges will vanish into thin air. The special meeting of council for the hearing will be broadcast over station WHK as the result of a resolution passed in council last night.

Regardless of the hearing, however, Hopkins' term as city manager will be concluded today, since the council's order removing him will be effective at midnight.

Broadcasting of the Hopkins' hearing is unique insofar as it is believed to be the first time a city has "aired" its administration troubles in such a way. The proceedings will take place from one p. m. to 2:45 p. m. Mayor John D. Marshall will read the charges with brief explanation following which Hopkins will make his reply.

The hearing is the last act in Cleveland's most spectacular political upheaval in years—note-worthy, especially, in its bearing upon the city manager form of government.

TRAIN HITS TRUCK, ONE DEAD, ONE HURT

ASHVILLE, O., Jan. 21.—Russell Hoover, 35, of Ashville, is dead and Guy Cain, 28, also of Ashville, is in a serious condition here today as the result of a crash late yesterday when the truck in which they were riding, was struck by a Norfolk and Western freight train, one-half mile north of here.

Hoover, driver of the truck, was thrown in front of the engine and was dragged for several hundred yards. His body was mangled beyond description.

Cain was thrown from the truck and received severe leg and scalp injuries.

Cain declared he heard the approaching train and warned Hoover, who drove on the tracks until he was struck by the engine. The injured man is expected to live, physicians said.

COLUMBUS CAR FARE MAY SOAR

Eight-Cent Fare Is Proposed

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 21.—Possibility of an 8-cent cash street car fare, with five tickets for thirty-five cents, loomed here today following a proposition which was placed before the city council last night by Ben W. Marr, president and general manager of the Columbus Railway Power and Light Co.

The present fare is six cents cash or five tickets for twenty-five cents.

The street car company's proposal came as the result of more than a year's controversy, which has been staged between the council and officials of the company.

UNITED STATES AND BRITAIN WERE NEAR AGREEMENT ON NAVY

Were Within 23,000 Tons
Of Accord At Conferences.

By PIERCE MILLER

I. N. S. Staff Correspondent
(Copyrighted 1930 By I. N. S.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—The United States and Great Britain came within 23,000 tons of reaching a complete accord on naval parity in all categories of warships in their preliminary negotiations for the London naval reduction conference. It was learned here today on high authority.

Following the face to face session of President Hoover and Premier MacDonald, American and British diplomats and naval authorities negotiated a tentative agenda for the conference in which a complete accord was reached on all but the cruiser strength of each country, it was said. On that point the Americans demanded three more 10,000 ton cruisers than the British were willing to allow. This point still remains unsettled as the two delegations gather with the diplomats of other nations in London.

In all, the United States asked for twenty-one new fast 10,000 ton cruisers to place its navy on a parity with the British cruiser strength. The British countered by agreeing to let America possess eighteen fast 10,000 ton cruisers. When this disagreement first arose, it was said, President Hoover promptly showed America's good faith by postponing the building of three cruisers already authorized by congress. Report had it he did so in the hope of aiding the negotiators in reaching a complete accord on cruiser strength.

In the meantime and while this real dispute was disturbing the naval authorities of both nations, much talk was broadcast about a disagreement over battleship strength. The International News Service however learned there was no dispute at any time over battleship strength, this feature of naval parity having been agreed to early in the negotiations. High officials of both nations though look upon the temporary deadlock over cruiser strength as the real "bone of contention" at the conference.

The difference that separated the two nations had its incubus in Great Britain's desire to retain nineteen old cruisers of the six-inch gun, 4,500-ton type. America at first suggested Britain sink the entire nineteen, thereby reducing the British naval cruiser strength to a tonnage that would necessitate the United States building only fifteen of the 10,000-ton eight-inch gun type to reach parity.

The British declined, somewhat hurt to think a friendly nation would so cripple the British ability to protect far flung commerce lanes. America then suggested each nation be given the option of having nineteen of the 4,500-ton, six-inch gun type ($5,000 tons), or six of the 10,000-ton, eight-inch gun type ($6,000 tons).

A British counter proposal was made that each nation take either the nineteen 4,500 tonners, or three of the 10,000 tonners. Both offers were rejected and the delegates went to London on that basis.

LOOT FILLING STATION HERE

Attendant Held-Up; $40 Taken

The City Service Oil Co. filling station on S. Detroit St., near the Pennsylvania Railroad overhead bridge was robbed at 9:45 o'clock Monday night by three armed but unmasked bandits who escaped with $40 obtained from the cash register.

Henry Wilson, attendant, reported to police that the trio drove up to the station in an old model Ford coupe just as he was preparing to close up for the night. While one man remained in the car his two companions entered the station, told Wilson to "stick 'em up" and rifled the cash register of its contents.

Hiring a taxi when the police car would not function, police visited the station and investigated the robbery but no clew to the bandits has been obtained.

YOUTHS ARE TRIED FOR BANK ROBBERY

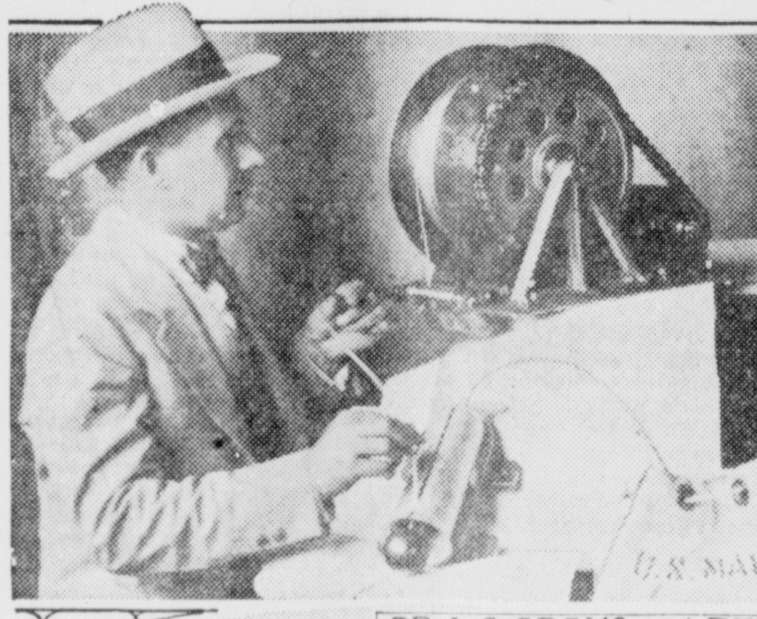

FINDLAY, O., Jan. 21.—Abbey Fleming, 17, and Arthur Burkhardt, 22, are on trial here today for the robbery of the Vanlue bank last December 17. A jury of five women and seven men is hearing the case of the youths.

Thirteen witnesses have been summoned by the state to appear against the two alleged robbers, while the defense rests its hopes on sixteen persons who will testify.

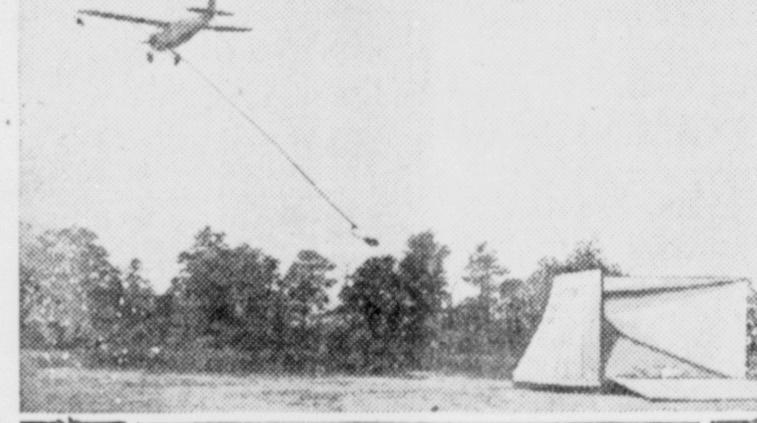

Judge George B. Scofield, of Marion, is hearing the case by assignment of the state supreme court.

SPEEDING UP AIR MAIL

Pick-Up Device Promises Faster Service Eliminating Needless Landings

DR. L. S. ADAMS and REEL

MAIL PLANE COMPLETING PICKUP

By Central Press

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Jan. 21.—Airmail service for the "sticks" towns—towns too small or too poor to boast of adequate airports—is just around the corner as a result of exhaustive official tests being made here with an airmail pickup device.

The device is the invention of Dr. L. S. Adams, Seattle, Wash., surgeon, who gave up his practice to devote his entire time to its perfection.

It consists of a huge steel and canvas apron which narrows down to a small slot. Planes are equipped with long cables and reels for the cables.

How It Works

Mail bags to be dropped off are attached to the end of the cable and

(Continued on Page Two)

STIMSON INDICATES FURTHER EFFORTS TO CUT WAR MACHINERY

LONDON, Jan. 21.—A broad intimation that success of the London naval arms conference will be followed by an American move for further international gatherings looking to world reduction of land and air forces was contained in the speech of Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson, chief of the American delegation, at the opening session this morning of the five-power parley on limiting sea strength.

Prefacing his address with gestures of courtesy to King George, who formally opened the conference, and to the leaders of the British, French, Japanese and Italian delegations, Stimson significantly stated:

"While the greatest contribution my country can make to the general cause of disarmament is in naval matters, still it must not be forgotten our ultimate aim is a general solution of the disarmament problem and a consequent lessening of the risks of war. For that reason, however great the achievements of this conference in regard to the naval problem, our goal in the general cause of disarmament and our efforts to contribute to the success of future endeavors in other fields will continue unabated.

"We are convinced that in attacking now, the naval problem we are following the practical and common sense path.

"We believe that any solution which we can make of this problem will be a tangible contribution to the success of the wider problem of general disarmament. There is a relationship between the land, sea and air forces which constitute national defense. We believe that a limitation of any one of these will contribute to an enlightened limitation of the others."

Stimson stressed the idea that, high as American hopes for the success of the London conference are, the United States will not look upon any agreement there reached as final.

KIDS ON HOLIDAY; SCHOOL BURNS

CADIZ, O., Jan. 21.—What many a school child wishes has happened, and today 400 students are enjoying a forced mid-winter vacation, following the destruction by fire of the Cadiz elementary school here last night.

The fire which was of undetermined origin gained such headway before it was discovered, that firemen were powerless to bring it under control.

The board of education here will not join in the vacation for it is faced with the serious problem of housing the 400 pupils, with no other quarters immediately available.

CONSOLIDATION OF PROTESTANTS PLAN SUGGESTED AT MEET

Canadian Pastors Propose Union At Columbus Meet

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 21.—A world-wide consolidation of every Christian Protestant church was intimated for the first time here today, following the first day's meeting of the Centennial Pentecostal convention, at which the proposition was made by two Canadian pastors of the United Canadian Church.

The United Canadian Church, they pointed out, is represented by Methodists, Presbyterians and Congregationalists of the old alignments. The church was organized in 1925.

The proposition was made, they said, not as a churchman's dream, but as a practical and desirable climax to centuries of religious effort.

The two Canadian ministers, Reverend George Pidgeon and Reverend James Endicott, spoke to an audience of 3500 pastors and laymen who are attending the centennial.

Competition between churches, which results in useless expenditures and general inefficiency, would be abolished by the merger of the churches, they said.

More than 5,000 delegates to the four conventions which comprise the centennial, are expected to register before the close of the meeting Friday.

The celebration was arranged by the Ohio Council of Churches and is sponsoring the eleventh annual Ohio Pastor's Convention, the third annual Ohio conference of Church Women, the second annual Ohio Laymen's convention and the Ohio youth convention.

And all reminded their colleagues of the shoals ahead.

It was a beautiful and inspiring spectacle, behind the horseshoe table where the delegates sat was an enormous fresco depicting the death of Admiral Nelson at Trafalgar, and facing this a companion fresco showing Wellington meeting Blucher after Waterloo—a yark-like setting for such a tremendous undertaking in behalf of peace.

Nearly 800 persons filled the gallery. Of these thirty were the principal delegates and scores of technical advisers, 200 newspaper correspondents, peers, British officials and others, but out beyond

ALLEGED RUM BARON WANTED IN BRIBERY PROBE DISAPPEARS

Key Man Fails To Appear; Postpone His Hearing

CLEVELAND, Jan. 21.—Search for James F. Courtney, reputed Toledo rum baron and key man in the government's investigation there, was started today after he failed to appear before U. S. Commissioner Martin J. Monahan yesterday to answer a customs charge.

Courtney is accused by federal agents of having bribed a coast guard crew last summer with $25,000. His disappearance has put a crimp into the government's investigation of Lake Erie rum smuggling and the activities of an alleged liquor ring of which he was said to be the chief.

Bondsman, who posted $5,500 for Courtney, promised to produce the missing defendant by next week and Monahan set next Monday as the date for his appearance.

Current rumors about the federal building here were that Courtney has fled to Canada where he will be safe from extradition.

D. F. Coughlin, who was arrested with Courtney and "Handsome" Larry Davidson, at a "bootleggers' convention," two months ago, also failed to appear before Monahan. His attorney explained, however, that Coughlin was ill. Monahan granted a continuance.

Davidson is under indictment by a Toledo federal grand jury. He is expected to be put on trial soon charged with conspiracy to violate the liquor laws.

PATRICIDE TRIAL ENTERS SECOND DAY

COVINGTON, Ky., Jan. 21.—The second day of the trial of Arthur Appel, 27, of Covington, charged with wilful murder in connection with the shooting of his father, George Appel, 64, was begun here today before Judge Leslie T. Applegate.

Appel is charged with having shot his father seven times with a small calibre revolver on July 8, 1929, here. Ill feeling, which is believed to have existed between the father and son, is said to have been the motive for the killing.

Mrs. Albert Krohman, in front of whose home the shooting occurred, was an eye-witness to the tragedy. She testified as state's witness at the opening day of the trial yesterday.

The youth was taken into custody late yesterday and is said to have been identified by four victims of his unique robberies.

The "leather bag bandit" confined his activities to filling station and grocery stores and robbed his victims by placing a leather bag upon the floor and ordering them to place their money in it.

Valentine has been under observation of detectives for more than two weeks, police said.

SALE DATES RESERVED
• Harry Sutton—January 22.
• C. H. Eichelberger—Jan. 22.
• Oscar Fawcett—Jan. 23.
• O. J. Whitlow—January 23.
• Kelso and Hawkins, Feb. 5.
• R. C. Watt & Son—Feb. 6.
• D. W. Brannan—Feb. 6.
• L. V. Henderson—February 18.

DELEGATES OF FIVE COUNTRIES EXPRESS HOPE FOR SUCCESS

Pledge Utmost Efforts For Navy Reduction In Historic House Of Lords; Plead For Good Will And Confidence; Dawes Late

By GEORGE R. HOLMES

International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Jan. 21.—In the glittering golden-hued royal gallery of the house of lords, which through the years has seen history-making of a far different sort, five powers today inaugurated the most ambitious attempt to limit navies that the world has seen since the historic Washington conference.

Today's opening was in startlingly direct contrast to Washington where the then Secretary of State Charles Evans Hughes electrified the world with his sharp admonition to the powers to reduce their navies or be outbuilt by the United States.

There was no such peremptory beginning today—instead, King George of England opened the session with a hospitable and innocuous greeting which was followed by the heads of each government professing their loyalty to the cause of disarmament, but significantly calling attention to the manifold difficulties.

One after another Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson, Premier Andre Tardieu, Dino Grandi and Reijiro Wakatsuki arose and solemnly pledged their utmost efforts for success and pleaded for good will and confidence as indispensable.

And all reminded their colleagues of the shoals ahead. It was a beautiful and inspiring spectacle, behind the horseshoe table where the delegates sat was an enormous fresco depicting the death of Admiral Nelson at Trafalgar, and facing this a companion fresco showing Wellington meeting Blucher after Waterloo—a yark-like setting for such a tremendous undertaking in behalf of peace.

Nearly 800 persons filled the gallery. Of these thirty were the principal delegates and scores of technical advisers, 200 newspaper correspondents, peers, British officials and others, but out beyond these the whole world listened in through the greatest world-wide radio hook-up ever attempted. Far away New Zealand heard as well as the nearby continent.

As host to the conference, Premier MacDonald outlined the aims of the parley immediately following King George's speech of welcome, stressing the most vital need.

General Dawes' oversleeping during his term of office as vice-president of the United States once kept Charles Warren from becoming attorney general of the United States.

His chair, incidentally, was the only vacant one during the speech of the king. He arrived just before Prime Minister MacDonald began his address to the delegates.

To a scribbled inquiry by International News Service as to the reason for his tardiness, General Dawes scratched out the following characteristic reply: "Fog."

cessity of success. Unless naval competition stopped, he warned that the whole world was traveling the same road which led to 1914.

With this he made a special plea for special consideration of Britain's position as an island empire, more dependent upon sea power than any others.

Secretary Stimson then took the floor and in a clear, strong voice, outlined to the assembled delegates the high hopes which the United States held that the conference result in a complete success.

He stressed the fact, however, that this could be considered at best only a temporary achievement, which must perform be reviewed from time to time in the future in order that the changing political complexion of the world could be put to use to strengthen and amplify whatever peace-making agreements evolved from the present parley.

"I feel it is important to emphasize the fact that we do not look upon this effort toward disarmament as final."

(Continued on Page Two)

EXPECT INCREASE IN COAL SHIPPING

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 21.—An increase in coal and coke shipments for the first quarter of 1930 over the same period of 1929 in the Ohio valley district, is predicted by T. M. Hazard, traffic manager of the Hazard-Harlan and Southern Appalachian Coal Association, of Louisville, Ky., according to his report which was given before the Ohio valley shippers' advisory board which entered the second day of its sixth annual convention here today.

More than 600 shippers and business men of Ohio, West Virginia, Kentucky and Indiana are attending the annual meeting which will continue until tomorrow.

Hazard's report showed that 29 per cent of the bituminous coal production originates in the Ohio valley district.

That the Ohio valley faces a healthy business situation during the first quarter of 1930, is the optimistic trend of a summary of reports which were made to the board today.

AMNESIA VICTIM HELD IN COLUMBUS

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 21.—Who is mysterious "Mr. X," who was found here last night at the Union Station, police are asking today.

DELEGATES OF FIVE COUNTRIES EXPRESS HOPES FOR SUCCESS

(Continued From Page One)

ment as final," Secretary Stimson declared. "Naval limitation is a continuous process. We regard disarmament as a goal to be reached by successive steps, by frequent revision and improvement. Human affairs are not static, but are moving and we believe improving. A solution reached today, however perfect, may not respond to conditions at a later date."

Premier Tardieu of France also expressed high hopes that the conference would result in success, but laid particular emphasis on the fact that whatever agreement is reached must be subsidiary to further action by the League of Nations.

Grandi, who spoke on behalf of Italy, called the attention of the delegates to the peace program of Premier Benito Mussolini, and declared that a long period of peace throughout the world is necessary for its fulfillment.

Reijiro Watasuki, former premier of Japan, told the conference that his nation was prepared to go the limit in disarmament, consistent with its national security.

A dense fog penetrated the gallery, giving it an eerie aspect with its klieg lights and its microphones, of which a gold plate one had been provided for the use of his majesty the king.

The delegates and diplomats, representing a total of forty-seven nations, were in their assigned seats well in advance of the king's arrival. Premier MacDonald circulated among the assemblage, introducing any of the delegates who had not met their co-workers on a social footing. The wives of all the delegates were in attendance, they being the only women in the gallery.

Following the speeches of the principal delegates, representatives of the British dominions took the floor. J. L. Ralston, Canadian minister of defense, recalled Canadian participation and sacrifices in the World War in the course of his speech.

"Canada united with all the nations here," he said, "in the hope for definite and practical results from this conference. These hopes are intensified because an anxious world awaits a successful outcome."

J. E. Fenton, Australian minister of trade and customs, spoke in a similar vein. He stressed the world's desire for peace and relief from the burden of armaments in order to enable them to pursue nobler aims. He pledged full Australian co-operation in the efforts of the conference.

The only really unusual incident of the entire session was the tardy arrival of Ambassador Charles G. Dawes, who strolled in after the king had concluded his speech of welcome. In a scribbled explanation to International News Service, Ambassador Dawes declared that fog had detained him.

Inquiry at the American embassy confirmed this statement, revealing that General Dawes left for the House of Lords at 10:25, thirty-five minutes before King George opened the conference. Under ordinary conditions, it only requires about fifteen minutes to travel from the embassy to the House of Lords by automobile. The expression of annoyance on General Dawes' face revealed that he wished he had decided to make the journey by subway—the only means of London transportation that is not hopelessly crippled when the fog descends.

Sir Atul Chandra Chatterjee, Indian high commissioner in London, expressed pride and gratification that India was participating in the movement for armament reduction.

"My country is proud that India is participating in this epochal undertaking," he said. "India's desire for armament reduction is as intense as any nation in the world."

Professor Timothy Smiddy, high commissioner of the Irish Free State in London went outside the usual stereotyped utterances by referring to the fact that Ireland and the United States had a common bond solidified by the closest ties of blood and friendship.

He referred to war as a crime and expressed the profoundest hopes for the success of the conference.

Foreign Minister Grandi's colleagues were surprised when he spoke in English instead of Italian. His speech was somewhat halting but his English was good.

KING GEORGE OPENS NAVAL CONFERENCE WITH FIRST SPEECH

(Continued From Page One)

of his address, the king retired. The dais and throne chair were removed, the gray in the horseshoe table filled by the insertion of another table and Premier Ramsay MacDonald took his place at the center of the table. During the king's speech, the premier had sat behind and to the right of his majesty.

The premier then delivered his opening address. He was followed by each of the other chief delegates in the following order:

Secretary of State Stimson of the United States.

Premier Tardieu of France. Foreign Minister Grandi of Italy. Former Finance Minister Watasuki of Japan.

Hon. J. L. Ralston for Canada. Hon. J. E. Fenton for Australia. Hon. T. W. Wilford for New Zealand.

Hon. C. T. Te Water for South Africa.

Sir Atul Chandra Chatterjee for India.

All the speeches were broadcast throughout the world.

Premier MacDonald, who took over chairmanship of the epochal conference as soon as King George had concluded his brief speech of welcome, began his address with a note of stern warning that naval competition among the powers of the world was already under way, and that if a stop was not put to it immediately, the events which led to the outbreak of the World War would see themselves duplicated again.

He urged that the delegates reach an agreement that could form the basis for a general disarmament conference at a later date, and called upon the nations of the world to respect their pledges under the Kellogg pact.

"This agreement," he said with emphasis, "must put a stop to the competition which has already begun to show itself both in types and numbers of ships."

"If we are not careful we shall once more be involved in feverish competition such as heralded the outbreak of the war in 1914."

Each of the other chief delegates then spoke in turn, setting forth his nation's views on the subject of disarmament and pledging themselves to exert their powers to the fullest to preserve peace in the world by limiting the size of armed forces of the sea.

The king expressed his sincere satisfaction over welcoming in person the delegates of five powers assembled with the object of "eliminating the evil results of wasteful competition in naval armaments."

"Every nation here is proud of its navy," Britain's "sailor king" declared, "and proud of that navy's past achievements and inspiring traditions."

"Since the great war all peoples have determined that human slaughter shall leave nothing undone to prevent a repetition of that grim and immense tragedy."

One of the most important columns in the edifice of peace, the king declared, is "limitation of naval strength and reduction to a point consistent with national security."

The king said he believed the delegates entrusted with the mission of continuing the task begun at Washington are "animated by the single-minded intention of working not with any selfish, exclusively nationalistic purpose, but with the noble inspiration and resolve to remove once and for all this particular obstacle from the path of ordered, civilized progress."

"I earnestly trust that the results of this conference will lead to immediate alleviation of the heavy burden of armaments now weighing upon the peoples of the world, and also by facilitating the future work of the preparatory disarmament commission of the League of Nations, and to hasten the time when a general disarmament conference can deal with this problem in an even more comprehensive manner."

"In this hope," he concluded, "I shall follow your deliberations with the closest interest and attention." Immediately upon conclusion of his speech, the king sat down on his magnificent throne, and listened while the speech was translated into French for the benefit of the foreign delegates. He then rose and bowed deeply all around and departed from the chamber.

The throne was then removed and Premier MacDonald took the space formerly occupied by the king. Secretary Stimson then arose and proposed the first business of the conference, which was the nomination of Premier MacDonald as chairman.

SPEEDING UP AIR MAIL WITH DEVICE

(Continued From Page One)

reeled out, and the plane is headed into the wind toward the field device, which works on a pivot.

The mail bag hits the apron and is drawn into the slot. The force of the impact breaks a tiny wire in a ball connecting the bag and the cable. The ball, in turn, is attached to a wire on the outgoing mail bag, which is simultaneously shot out by a powerful catapult.

A large number of official tests of the device have been made by planes and pilots on the Cleveland-Youngstown-Pittsburgh air mail route and the Cleveland-Washington air passenger line.

"The device," says Dr. Adams, "makes extension of air mail service to small cities and towns practical, for it eliminates the need of expensive intermediate airports and cuts airplane operating costs and saves time."

Extra Landings Eliminated

"Intermediate landings and take-offs are eliminated by use of the pick-up. And there is the saving of time. A plane can start out from its base, swoop down over a small town, go on to the next town and make a pick-up there, and go on, saving the time required in landing."

"Time could also be saved on the important through routes by use of the new device installed on or near post-office buildings. It now takes from a half hour to several hours to transport mail between postoffices and air fields. Yet planes could cover that distance in just a few minutes."

FRESH CUT FLOWERS

Just Call

ANDERSON

Flower Shop
101 W. Main St.
Phone 681 R.

Movie Monotypes

by RADIE HARRIS

Is one of the "F. F. V.'s" of Staunton. When Elinor Glyn called him a ham actor his retort was, "All the best hams come from Virginia."

Ran away from home at the age of 14. Had very "taking ways" so annexed his mother's diamond fichu pin and pawned it to meet expenses.

Stkl carries long scar across his chest from being knifed with still-etto in scrap with Italian boy.

Was clerk in a department store. Fired because he preferred his customers to his merchandise.

Used to borrow clothes from the boy who is now his "stand-in" at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios.

His Entrance

Entered Sam Goldwyn's "New Faces" contest by simple expedient of having a Goldwyn scout ask him whether he would like to go in pictures. Had never entertained thought of screen career.

Was given a contract at $40 per. Landed in Hollywood with boil on his nose and skin abrasion and announced: "I'm your new prize beauty!" No one gave him the key to the city.

Borrowed by Columbia Pictures just as Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer was going to let him out because he had no sex appeal.

Scored overnight hit in "Brown of Harvard." Started him on a non-stop series of "wisecracking" roles.

Isn't This Queer?

Isn't included in the Scandinavian. Has worked on the same lot with Greta Garbo for five years and has never met the fair lady.

Likes Cliff Edwards' phonograph records, fried oysters, practical jokes, raw cauliflower salad, shocking people and Emil Jannings' pictures.

13—WILLIAM HAINES

Detests yellow automobiles, pickles, French pastry, comic supplements, Russian wolfhounds and openwork stockings.

Thinks James Cruze is the best director in the business because he never works his company after four in the afternoon.

Plays a fair game of polo, a good game of draw poker, an expert game of bridge and the piano and typewriter the same way—with one finger.

Is supposed to have attended Staunton, Va., Military Academy. Nearest he ever got to it was painting bedsteads in the dorms at $6 per month.

Glowns for a pastime and collects antiques for a hobby. Likes to kid unsuspecting people. Once told an interviewer—new to the business—that he was engaged to Polly Moran and faked the most preposterous story about their courtship. Only the interference of an alert publicity man rescued an embarrassing situation.

An Athlete

Is the most athletic star on the screen and the laziest off.

Thinks Marion Davies, Polly Moran and Eleanor Boardman the three grandest scouts in Hollywood. Would have to use a double in any scene calling for dancing. Doesn't know how and refuses to learn.

Is razzed consistently by critics for his wisecracking roles and continues to be one of the best box office bets in the country.

Should have been a "gag" man to Louis XIV.

(Next: Bebe Daniels)

GALOSHES

All Rubber $1.95
Cloth $1.85

Child's Cloth, 6 to 10½ $1.65
Misses' Cloth, 11 to 2 $1.75
Child's Rubber, 6 to 10½ $1.85
Misses' Rubber, 11 to 2 $1.95

$3.85
$4.85
$6.85

ARROW SHOE CO.

Smartest affair of the season . . .
... mustn't be late . . . and then . . .

Here's the answer!

Standard Oil of Ohio engineers do something EXTRA to Sohio Ethyl Gasoline for cold-weather use. They increase its volatility—actually give it 35% greater starting power than in summer. That means ACTION at the touch of the starter—REAL action! Also less choking, less oil dilution, less carbon—and the same smooth, knockless, long-mileage power that has made Sohio famous.

Try it! Every drop is the same at every Red-White-and-Blue Service Station and Pump in the State.

COLD WEATHER SOHIO ETHYL GASOLINE has *35% added starting power

Copyright 1929, The Standard Oil Co. (Ohio)

*As proved by actual analysis based on U. S. Bureau of Standards test methods.

THE STANDARD OIL COMPANY (An Ohio Corporation)

Quick Relief for Coughing Spells

FAMOUS PRESCRIPTION STOPS THEM ALMOST INSTANTLY

The phenomenal success of a doctor's famous prescription called Thoxine is due to its double action. It immediately soothes the irritation and goes direct to the internal cause not reached by patent medicines and cough syrups. The very first swallow usually stops even the most obstinate cough.

Thoxine contains no harmful drugs, is pleasant tasting and safe for the whole family. Sold on a money back guarantee to give better and quicker relief for coughs or sore throat than anything you have ever tried. Ask for Thoxine, put up ready for use in 35c., 60c., and $1.00 bottles. All Druggists.

—Adv.

THE VANDERBILT HOTEL

Thirty-fourth Street East
at Park Avenue
NEW YORK

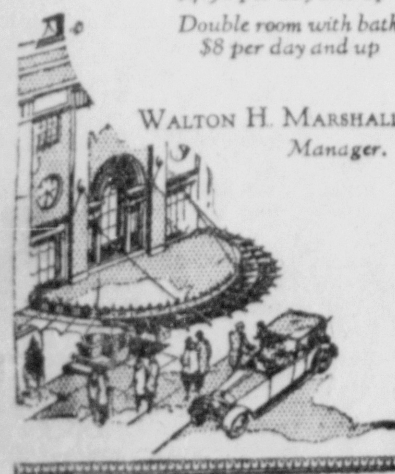

ADMIRABLY situated on the Crest of Murray Hill. It is convenient to the business, shopping and theatre centers and to the Pennsylvania and New York Central Railway Terminals. B. & O. Motor Coaches stop at the entrance.

Its clientele is made up of intelligent travellers from all parts of the World. One finds in the dining rooms excellent service and a perfect cuisine. Every bedroom is an outside room and each one has its own private bath.

TARIFF

Single room with bath
$4.50 per day and up
Double room with bath
$8 per day and up

WALTON H. MARSHALL
Manager.

New Spring Dresses

A Fashion and Value event that the thrifty . . . and fashion-wise woman will not want to miss! Silk dresses that forecast all the spring styles . . . in dashing new prints . . . in vivid colors . . . in street shades . . . in smart black! Now—when every woman wants to freshen and add new smartness to her wardrobe—these dresses solve her problem. Sizes for women, misses and juniors.

$6.90 $9.90 $14.75

J.C. PENNEY CO. INC.

37—39 E. Main St., Xenia, O.

Society-Personal-Clubs

THE NICEST courtesy you can show your guests is to have their names mentioned in this page. The nicest courtesy you can show your friends is to let them learn of your visits through this page whenever you go away. The Gazette considers it a favor whenever you turn in an item of any kind. PHONE 70.

DIES AID PLANS

Members of the Ladies Aid Society of the First Lutheran Church will serve a chicken supper in the Sunday School rooms of the church, 304 W. Main St., Tuesday, Jan. 22, from 5:30 to 7 p. m.

Mrs. Tueron White and Mrs. Smith Witham compose the committee in charge of the affair. They are assisted by other members of the Ladies Aid Society.

The chicken supper Wednesday evening will be the regular monthly social event of the organization. General invitation is extended to public to attend and a nominal will be charged.

There are now twenty-six members in the Aid Society of the local Lutheran Church. Mrs. H. L. Ellis, W. Second St., and Mrs. Julius Hilt, 27 California St., were recently added to the membership thus bringing the number past two dozen figure.

GERVEY BIBLE CLASS

JOYS MEETING MONDAY

Mrs. B. F. Thomas, N. Detroit St., has been the guest of the Gervay Bible Class. The class met at the home of Mrs. B. F. Thomas, N. Detroit St., Monday evening for the regular monthly meeting.

The meeting opened with Mrs. Thomas reading the devotionary. There were eighteen members following devotionary a short business session was held. Mrs. Emma Hilt gave a short talk on "The City of Thoughts." At the close of the meeting the hostess, assisted by Mrs. William Fudge, Mrs. Martha Peterson and Mrs. Martha Smith, served a daily refreshment course and a social time was enjoyed.

NDAY SCHOOL CLASS

REGULAR MEETING.

About fifteen members of the Nday School Class of Trinity M. E. Church met at the home of Mrs. H. Barnes, Washington St., Monday evening.

The regular business session was held at the opening of the evening. Games and contests followed. Mrs. Thea White and Mrs. Brant Bell were awarded consolation prizes. The hostess served delicious refreshments at the close of the meeting assisted by Mrs. William Devore and Mrs. M. C. Hilt.

Plans were made for a covered h supper to be held at the next meeting.

Xenia Kiwanians are urged to attend the regular weekly dinner meeting Tuesday evening at 6 o'clock at Elk's Hall. No special program has been arranged for the evening. The entertainment committee for the month of February will be composed of the Rev. J. P. chairman, Messrs. W. R. Lawrence, S. M. McKay and Adolph.

MISS ITA BRISCOE, KANSAS, ILL.

Miss Ita Briscoe, Kansas, Ill., has been the guest of Mrs. H. Armstrong, N. King St., for the last two weeks, left Tuesday return to her home.

All members of the Philathea of the First Baptist Church are urged to attend the regular monthly meeting at the church Tuesday evening. A covered dish supper will be served preceding the meeting.

ONJOLA PUTS

RHEUMATISM TO

SPEEDY ROUT!

Three Years of Suffering Ended Quickly By New and Different Medicine

It is hard for me to believe that a medicine could do what Konjola did for me," says Mrs. Emma Perry, Brookville, Ind., who has found in this modern medicine of

MRS. EMMA PERRY

Ingredients—22 of them the best of roots and herbs—the very essence she needed.

"For three years I endured torments from rheumatism, kidney and stomach trouble. My ankles and my knee were swollen to twice their normal size. Every night I had to get up four or five times. I had smothering attacks and dizzy spells. I was in a terrible condition when I started taking Konjola. At just three bottles of this remarkable medicine made a new person of me. I eat, sleep and feel like I did three years ago, and ever shall I cease to praise Konjola, the medicine that made this new and glorious health possible."

Konjola is a new and different medicine of 32 ingredients, 22 of them the best of roots and herbs known for their medicinal value. Konjola works quickly and thoroughly at the very root, the seat of the ill of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, and of neuritis, neuritis and nervousness. Konjola is not designed to give mere temporary relief, but to bring new, glorious and lasting health.

Konjola is sold in Xenia at the allaher drug store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

Adv.

Miss Eleanor McDonnell, Walnut St., was the guest soloist at a dinner given by the Dayton Lumbermen's Club at Miami Hotel at Dayton last Friday evening. She was accompanied by her sister, Miss Mary McDonnell.

Mrs. Russell Spahr, New Jasper, was removed to Miami Valley Hospital, Dayton, Monday. She is suffering from pneumonia.

The Glad Community Club will meet Thursday evening and each family is asked to bring sandwiches and pickles.

Miss Georgia Ledbetter, Hill St., who underwent an operation last week at Miami Valley Hospital, Dayton, is reported to be improving nicely.

Orient Hill P. T. A. will present an interesting program at Orient Hill Auditorium, Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock. At the close of the program sandwiches, coffee and cookies will be sold.

Word has been received here that Mr. and Mrs. Percy Minchall (Josephine Armstrong), arrived in Los Angeles, Calif., Sunday. They sailed from there Tuesday noon for the Hawaiian Islands where they will remain for six weeks.

Regular meeting of the Daughters of Union Veterans will be held in Post Hall Tuesday evening. All members are asked to be present as installation of officers will be held at this meeting.

Members and friends of the Victoria class of the First Lutheran Church will meet at the home of Mrs. John E. Kohl, 259 N. King St., Tuesday night at 7:30. Mrs. Kohl is teacher of this class. A good attendance is urged.

St. Agnes Guild of the Christ Episcopal Church will hold its regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Louise Sandoe, 308 N. Detroit St., Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. A good attendance is desired.

Mr. Clarence Herr, E. Main St., who has been confined to his home because of illness, is now able to be out.

Regular meeting of the Ladies Aid Society of the Old Town M. E. Church will be held at the home of Mrs. Owen Swadener, Old Town, Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. A full attendance is desired.

Mr. John F. Clark, who has been seriously ill at the home of the Rev. O. P. Vance, Jamestown, is improved and has been removed to the home of his daughter, Mrs. Orie Harness, E. Second St., this city.

Mrs. Grover Mendenhall, 501 S. Detroit St., who has been confined to her home for the past week suffering from the grip, is now able to be about the house.

Mr. Robert Owens, W. Third St., who has been confined to his home ill with an attack of grip for several days, was able to be out Tuesday.

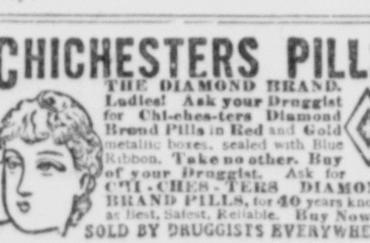

The regular bi-monthly meeting of the Downtown Country Club will be held at the Iron Lantern Wednesday evening at 6:30 o'clock. Business of importance will be held at this meeting and all members are urged to be present.

Mrs. Dora Legg, W. Main St., underwent an operation at Miami Valley Hospital, Dayton, Tuesday morning. She is reported to be doing as well as could be expected.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Fleming, Stone Road, are announcing the birth of a daughter, Tuesday morning. The baby has not been named.

The Women's Bible Class of the First M. E. Church will hold its January party at the church Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. A good attendance is desired as a program of interest is being planned.

All women in the vicinity of Babbtown School District are invited to the home of Mrs. Chas. Watkins Friday afternoon, at 1 o'clock when demonstrations will be given on the nutrition project "Simple and Substantial Desserts" which is being studied by the women of Greene County under the direction of the home economics department of Ohio State University.

CHICHESTERS PILLS

THE DIAMOND BRAND. Ladies Ask Your Druggist for Chichesters Diamond Brand Pills in Red and Gold wrapper. Take after meals. Buy of your Druggist. Ask for the Diamond Brand. Chichesters Diamond Brand Pills, for 40 years known as the best, safest, reliable. Buy Now! Sold by Druggists Everywhere.

Chicken Supper

Wednesday, Jan. 22

At Lutheran Church

Adlts. 50c. Children 25c

Public Welcome.

YOU PAY LESS AT

Kennedy's

39 West Main

ATTENDS MISSIONARY MEET IN CINCINNATI

Mrs. George Street, E. Third St., secretary of the Women's Home Missionary Society of the Dayton district attended the mid-year conference executive board meeting at Cincinnati last Thursday and Friday.

On Thursday the meeting was held at the Grand Hotel and plans were made for entertaining the fiftieth annual meeting of the National Society at Cincinnati, October 8 to 14. Scottish Rite Hall, Taft Hall and Wesley Chapel have been obtained to accommodate the many women who will attend this meeting. The meeting on Friday was held in Wesley Chapel with a banquet at the noon hour. Mrs. W. H. C. Good of Sidney and Mrs. Daniel Burmitt of Chicago, national officers, were speakers at the after-banquet meeting.

HONORED ON TWENTY-FIRST BIRTHDAY.

Honoring Miss Erma Tedrick on her twenty-first birthday a group of relatives and friends gathered at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Tedrick, S. Monroe St., Friday evening to celebrate the occasion.

The evening was spent in contests and games after which a light refreshment course was served. The honor guest received many lovely and useful gifts.

Those present were: Misses Margaret Ryan, Hazel Snodgrass, Phoebe Burrell, Mable Glenn, Bertha Warwick and Dorothy Palmer; Mrs. Carrie Jordan, Mrs. Robert Buckles, Mrs. Helen Moore, Mrs. Kenneth Fulkerson, Mrs. Frances McIntire, Mrs. Naomi Ford, Mrs. Frank Cain and small-son, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Snodgrass, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Burrell and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Tedrick.

Second United Presbyterian Church choir will meet for practice Wednesday evening following the prayer service.

Mr. Harold M. Owens, N. King St., underwent an operation here Tuesday morning for the removal of his tonsils.

Mrs. Edward Shaffer, W. Second St., is confined to her home because of illness.

Dr. Frank M. Chambliss, Springfield Pike, who has been confined to his home for several days because of illness, has resumed his practice.

WILLAMAN SPEAKER WHEN ROTARY CLUB ENTERTAINS TEAM

Sam Willaman, head football coach at Ohio State University, was the guest speaker at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Xenia Rotary Club at the Elk's Club Tuesday. Members of Xenia Central High School's 1929 football squad were honor guests of Rotarians at the meeting.

The Ohio State grid mentor in the course of his talk reviewed several State football games played last season and also summarized the high spots of several other major football contests in the West and East that it was his privilege to witness.

Willaman was obtained as the principal speaker for the occasion through the good offices of P. B. Yockey, this city, an alumnus of Ohio State, who is a personal friend of the State coach. Mr. Yockey was also a guest at the meeting.

Coach Willaman motored to Xenia and left immediately after the meeting to return to Columbus.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Fleming, Stone Road, are announcing the birth of a daughter, Tuesday morning. The baby has not been named.

The Women's Bible Class of the First M. E. Church will hold its January party at the church Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. A good attendance is desired as a program of interest is being planned.

All women in the vicinity of Babbtown School District are invited to the home of Mrs. Chas. Watkins Friday afternoon, at 1 o'clock when demonstrations will be given on the nutrition project "Simple and Substantial Desserts" which is being studied by the women of Greene County under the direction of the home economics department of Ohio State University.

Chichesters Pills. The Diamond Brand. Ladies Ask Your Druggist for Chichesters Diamond Brand Pills in Red and Gold wrapper. Take after meals. Buy of your Druggist. Ask for the Diamond Brand. Chichesters Diamond Brand Pills, for 40 years known as the best, safest, reliable. Buy Now! Sold by Druggists Everywhere.

Chicken Supper

Wednesday, Jan. 22

At Lutheran Church

Adlts. 50c. Children 25c

Public Welcome.

YOU PAY LESS AT

Kennedy's

39 West Main

Chicken Supper

Wednesday, Jan. 22

At Lutheran Church

Adlts. 50c. Children 25c

Public Welcome.

YOU PAY LESS AT

Kennedy's

39 West Main

Chicken Supper

Wednesday, Jan. 22

At Lutheran Church

Adlts. 50c. Children 25c

Public Welcome.

YOUTH HOLDS WIRES JOINED TO KEEP SPEECH ON AIR

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—The lad who plugged up the dikes of Holland with his body was paraded today in a modern epic of heroism.

Harold Vivian, chief control operator for the Columbia Broadcasting system is the lad. He held two broken ends of a high voltage electric wire in his naked hands so that the world could listen to the radio broadcasting of King George's speech at the opening of the naval conference in London.

A second before the historic address by the king was to begin a member of the control room staff stumbled over the wire leading from the switchboard to the generator. The wires parted and the entire network went "dumb."

Vivian saw the break. He was alone. The "zero hour" for the speech of King George was at hand. There was only on thing to do—until somebody came to assist him—and Vivian did it.

He picked up the two ends of the wires and held them close in the palm of his hand. Two hundred and twenty volts of electricity seethed through the wire and the leakage vibrated through Vivian's body.

He twitched and writhed. His arms shook with spasms. But he held on for the seven minutes that King George gave out his message of peace to the world.

Other engineers came to the rescue of Vivian by the time the next speaker, Premier Ramsay MacDonald, of Great Britain, began his address.

New wires were connected and Vivian was examined by a physician. No after effects from his ordeal were expected by Vivian.

Radio fans reported that the voice of King George was easily recognized in the broadcast which linked the United States, Great Britain and Canada in a network of fifty-nine stations.

Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson spoke after MacDonald, each address was repeated in French after being spoken in English. The broadcasting began shortly after 6 o'clock (Eastern Standard time) this morning.

FINES ARE PAID

His conviction in Probate Court on three separate charges of unlawfully retiling registered milk bottles belonging to three other dairies sustained by Common Pleas Court, James L. Hurley, Xenia dairyman, has paid fines totalling $30 and costs and 50 cents for each of fifteen bottles he was charged with having refilled illegally. Sheriff Ohmer Tate announced Tuesday.

MARKET

By Women Of Xenia Grange

At Huston-Bickett Hardware Store

Saturday, Jan. 25

At 9 a. m.

Coach Willaman motored to Xenia and left immediately after the meeting to return to Columbus.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Fleming, Stone Road, are announcing the birth of a daughter, Tuesday morning. The baby has not been named.

The Women's Bible Class of the First M. E. Church will hold its January party at the church Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. A good attendance is desired as a program of interest is being planned.

All women in the vicinity of Babbtown School District are invited to the home of Mrs. Chas. Watkins Friday afternoon, at 1 o'clock when demonstrations will be given on the nutrition project "Simple and Substantial Desserts" which is being studied by the women of Greene County under the direction of the home economics department of Ohio State University.

Chichesters Pills. The Diamond Brand. Ladies Ask Your Druggist for Chichesters Diamond Brand Pills in Red and Gold wrapper. Take after meals. Buy of your Druggist. Ask for the Diamond Brand. Chichesters Diamond Brand Pills, for 40 years known as the best, safest, reliable. Buy Now! Sold by Druggists Everywhere.

Chicken Supper

Wednesday, Jan. 22

At Lutheran Church

Adlts. 50c. Children 25c

Public Welcome.

YOU PAY LESS AT

Kennedy's

39 West Main

Chicken Supper

Wednesday, Jan. 22

At Lutheran Church

Adlts. 50c. Children 25c

Public Welcome.

YOU PAY LESS AT

Kennedy's

39 West Main

GREENE COUNTY HAS COMPENSATION FUND OVERDRAWN IS SAID

Greene County is hit by an order of the state industrial commission Tuesday barring public employees and their dependents in twenty-seven Ohio counties from receiving further compensation from the workers' compensation fund until such time as premium contributions from these counties meet present overdrafts and provide funds for additional payments.

A decision of the supreme court holding the premium payments from each county and its political subdivisions must be sufficient to meet claims from that county resulted in the commissioner's order shutting off payments in the counties affected.

Because claim disbursements exceeded premiums paid into the fund, there are already overdrafts amounting to $217,092.16 in the counties affected, it is said.

A total of 268 claims in these counties as of November 1, 1929 are affected by the order.

According to Wellington T. Leonard, chairman of the industrial commission, the situation is the result of the provision in the compensation law limiting the amount of money a county may be required to pay as premiums to 3 per cent of its total annual public payroll, regardless of the number of claims resulting from accidents.

FORM CORPORATION

Incorporations on file at Columbus Tuesday, included that of The Strathman Chevrolet Co. at Osborn, capitalized at $10,000. The incorporators are Elmer F. Strathman, Fred W. Lang and Helen M. Lang.

Fred Lang, of the Lang Chevrolet Co., has the exclusive Xenia agency for that make of automobile.

Wife Preservers

Use shoe trees in shoes that are not being worn. They will help keep the shoes in shape.

His conviction in Probate Court on three separate charges of unlawfully retiling registered milk bottles belonging to three other dairies sustained by Common Pleas Court, James L. Hurley, Xenia dairyman, has paid fines totalling $30 and costs and 50 cents for each of fifteen bottles he was charged with having refilled illegally. Sheriff Ohmer Tate announced Tuesday.

ORPHIUM

TONIGHT

The Screen Sizzles!

HONKY TONK TUCKER

With LILA LEE, GEORGE DUR-YEA, AUDREY FERRIS, MAHLON HAMILTON.

Quiver and quake to the mad melodies of "Honky Tonk"! Sophie sings "I'm Doing What I'm Doing For Love," "He's A Good Man To Have Around," "Some One Of These Days" and a swarm of scorching song hits.

Also Clark and McCullough in a 4 reel all talking comedy. Matinee Every Day 2:15 Except Friday

WED. AND THURSDAY Matinee 2:15

ANN HARDING

Her Private Affair

Love—hate—passion—tragedy—these are the elements of as dramatic a picture as ever was screened—there's a thrill in every scene.

All Sound—All Music—All Dialogue

Also 2 reel all talking comedy and Pathe Sound News

Wisconsin Senator Attacks Prohibition

Congressman John Schafer, Republican, of Wisconsin, delivering his fiery attack on prohibition during the "death of liberty" protest meeting in old Faneuil Hall, Boston, known as the "cradle of liberty." The meeting, sponsored by the Liberal Civic League, attracted so many people the historic old edifice could not accommodate them and hundreds were forced to stand in the adjoining streets.

Captain Harold L. Hays, Washington C. H., newly-appointed superintendent of the O. S. and S. O. Home, who will assume his new duties February 1, has been extended an invitation by Prof. J. E. Balmer, acting superintendent of the institution, to visit the Home at his earliest convenience and confer with him in order that his temporary management of the institution may meet with the approval of his successor.

Prof. Balmer, supervisor of trades at the Home, who was named acting superintendent when Major C. V. Burton resigned, wrote to Captain Hays Monday immediately after reading newspaper dispatches of his appointment.

Captain Hays, who is an examiner for the state civil service commission, is only 32 years old and is believed to be the youngest man ever to hold the post of superintendent of the Home here.

TAX COLLECTION IS NORMAL IS REPORT

With between $500,000 and $600,000 estimated to have been paid in by the time the collection period closed Monday afternoon, Miss Helen Dodds, county treasurer, believes the December collection of the first half of 1929 taxes was up to normal.

Tax-payers who were forgetful and have not yet paid their taxes will be placed on the delinquent list.

The rush to make payments before the time expired on the last day Monday was unprecedented, clerks of the treasurer's office asserted. Throughout the day the office was jammed to capacity and long lines of impatient tax-payers stretched in both directions along the Court House corridor.

COLD WAVE COMING

CHICAGO, Jan. 21.—A new sub-zero wave is scheduled to strike the Middle West and the lower Great Lakes region tonight, according to the predictions of Forecaster C. A. Donnel today.

The blast is riding on a gale from the Northwest. Snow may accompany the cold wave.

as Carefully as You Choose Your Bank.

CHOOSE your insurance company, as you choose your bank, for strength, safety and service. In emergency, the safety of home or business may depend upon these vital considerations.

CENTRAL's strength is unquestioned—its policies absolutely safe. With a record of over fifty years of prompt settlement of claims, service is assured. A Mutual Company, CENTRAL has paid 30% dividend for the last nine years—a substantial saving. It's only good business to talk over insurance needs with a CENTRAL agent.

CENTRAL
Manufacturers Mutual Insurance Company of Van Wert, Ohio.

D. H. BARNES INS. AGCY. . .
121 High St. Xenia, Ohio

FIRE, AUTOMOBILE AND TORNADO INSURANCE FOR SELECT RISKS

DON'T MISS THIS CHANCE

WE MUST UNLOAD OUR BIG STOCK IN 10 DAYS

MEN'S AND YOUNG MEN'S ALL SHEEP LINED COATS, LEATHER COATS, SHEEP VESTS, DUCK AND CORDUROY COATS

1-3 Off

Half Price

FEATURES Views and News Comment EDITORIAL

The Gazette is published morning and evening except Sunday at the Gazette Building, South Belmont Street, Xenia, Ohio, by The Chase Publishing Company, Inc. Entered as second class matter under act of March 3, 1879, at the Postoffice, Xenia, Ohio.

Members of "Ohio Select List" Daily Newspapers. John W. Cullen Co. National Advertising Representatives, Chicago office, No. 8 S. Michigan Ave., New York office, 501 Fifth Ave., New York City; Detroit office, General Motors Bldg.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

	1 Mo.	3 Mo.	6 Mo.	1 Yr.
In Greene County	$4.00	$10.00	$19.00	$33.00
Zones 1 and 2	.45	1.15	2.15	4.00
Zones 3, 4, and 5	.50	1.30	2.40	4.50
Zones 6 and 7	.55	1.45	2.65	5.00
Zone 8	.60	1.50	2.90	5.50

By carrier in Xenia, 15c Per Week. Single Copy, Three Cents

TELEPHONES

Advertising and Business Office	111
Editorial Department	70
Circulation Department	800

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

PRAYER AND ITS CONDITIONS—If ye abide in me, and my words abide in you, ye shall ask what ye will, and it shall be done unto you.—John 15:7.

GRADE CROSSINGS

With automobile accidents increasing each year, to some extent possibly because the number of automobiles is on the increase, it is interesting to note what many individuals who have reason to keep in touch with such activities, have to say about it.

For instance the opinion of Morris Goodkind, of Trenton, N. J., recently made public through press articles.

The name of Goodkind perhaps, does not mean much to thousands of readers but the fact that he is chairman of the American Road Builders' Association committee appointed to investigate the grade crossing situation of this country, does place him in a position where his thoughts upon the matter would seem worth reading.

Mr. Goodkind declares that danger to life at grade crossings is three and one-half times greater than in other parts of the highway system, and he will recommend that every economy in design and construction be used in order to permit the maximum number of grade crossing eliminations with the funds available for this purpose.

His report will be submitted at the 27th annual convention of the Road Builders, which will bring 30,000 delegates and guests together, among them representatives of 30 foreign countries.

The following five recommendations as a means of meeting the serious grade crossing problem will be presented by the grade crossing committee headed by Goodkind, includes William L. Craven, bridge engineer, North Carolina state highway commission; C. C. McCullough, bridge engineer, Oregon state highway commission; S. B. Slack, bridge engineer, Georgia state highway commission:

- 1—A definite classification of crossings based on the relative value to the traveling public of their elimination.
- 2—A definite annual program by each state and each of the railroads in each state for the elimination of grade crossings of the highest classification.
- 3—Restriction of the authority to create grade crossings.
- 4—A definite progressive program in each state for installing safety warning devices of a rigidly standardization type or types.

Ohio is interested because there are at present, numerous grade crossings that are being proposed for elimination.

MORALS OUT OF IT

Does a census bear any relation to a censor, and if so, why? In 1930, starting May 1st, the U. S. Government conducts its decennial counting of the country's population. The first such census was taken in 1790; there has been a census every ten years ever since.

In Roman times, in the days of antiquity, the census was taken in order to apportion taxes. The taker of the census was called a censor. He counted the people, valued their property, and, at the same time, officially inspected their morals and conduct. It is from the latter part of the ancient censor's duties that we get our modern use of the word censor as meaning "one who acts as an overseer of morals and conduct."

Census, as a word, is thus closely related to censor. According to Webster's New International Dictionary, both words come from the same Latin verb, "censere," meaning to value or to tax. The 1930 Federal Census is to be an enumeration of population, irrigation, drainage, distribution, mines, and unemployment. It is expected that eight months will be consumed in the work.

The U. S. Census also determines the apportionment of the House of Representatives, which depends on the population. This reapportionment has just been effected by an act of Congress—a belated action, for there has been no reapportionment, according to changes in population, since 1910. Some states will gain, some will lose, in representation, with the results of the 1930 census.

We take note of the fact that there is one decided change in the meaning of the word today, compared to that existing in the time of the Romans, namely that the census taker "inspects their morals and conduct."

The Roman may have waited in fear and trembling the coming of the census taker, providing of course he had not been adhering to the straight and narrow path but today, even though many of us may be "doing as the Romans did" in so far as moral activities are concerned, we can, expressing the thought in modern slang, give the census taker the gate even as we open the door for him.

The WAY of the WORLD

By GROVE PATTERSON

RUSSIA AND RELIGION

London has been having mass meetings to protest, with much excitement, against the persecution of religion and religious people in Russia. Eight thousand persons in a meeting initiated a world-wide crusade against the persecution. While the position of the Russian government is cruel and indefensible, the people of England and the rest of the world are needlessly excited. Religion thrives on persecution. Man is incurably religious. He will never give up the constant effort to come into contact with a creative force. No government can ever stop him.

THE OTHER ATTACK

As far as the attack on religion on the part of certain scientists and so-called free thinkers, religion is of little value if it cannot hold its place in the world against all attack. Whatever cannot stand assault will be destroyed. If the teachings of religion can be proved untrue, then we might as well be rid of them. No philosophy which cannot stand the most powerful light of investigation deserves to have a following.

The universe from the viewpoint of religion is one thing, and the universe from the viewpoint of science is something else. They have separate fields. If we do not see this clearly, we confuse the issue and we confuse ourselves.

EPICUREANS

There really ought to be a better understanding in these modern times of the philosophy of pleasure and happiness as it was set forth by many civilized teachers many hundreds of years ago. Many carelessly think the Epicureans believed in self-indulgence, in doing whatever for the moment seemed to yield the greatest thrill and the liveliest pleasure. The fact is that the teachers of the philosophy of pleasure and happiness had a different idea. They believed that doing good as nearly as man knew the good was the means of bringing the greatest happiness. They believed that pleasure was promoted by moderation in all things. They believed that a life of self-control yielded the most happiness. Theirs was the philosophy of moderation. Too bad we find so little of moderation now.

THE QUESTION BOX

CENTRAL PRESS
WASHINGTON BUREAU

Answers to questions of information and fact can be obtained by writing to Central Press Bureau, P. O. Box 126, Washington, D. C., and enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope. No answers will be given to marital, medical or legal questions.

"What," queries an obvious inlander, evidently with a taste for the minstrelsy of long ago, "is the meaning of 'larboard'—as in 'Larboard Watch, Ahoy!'"

"Larboard" pronounced "larb'd" formerly was the nautical term for the left, facing forward aboardship, toward the vessel's bow—just as a sailor still says "starboard" (pronounced "stab'd") when he means right. To a mariner the words right and left are as shocking as they are to a horseman, applied to the "off" and "nigh" sides of his mount—although it is a fact that Josephus Daniels did insist on their use by the scandalized sea-dogs under him, concerning men-o'-war, when he was secretary of the navy. Today, while the term "starboard" continues current, "larboard" is obsolete; "port" has supplanted it. True, "Port Watch, Ahoy!" would be metrically unsatisfactory, but at least the correct pronunciation—"larb'd watch," of course, refers to the lookout on the port side.

O. K.

Where did the term "o. k." originate and what is the meaning of the two initials?

"O. k.'s" origin is obscure. One dubious story attributes it to Andrew Jackson's abbreviation for "all correct"—his own facetious spelling. A likelier-sounding account is that early Indian agents picked it up from the chief, Old Keokuk's habit of signing treaties with his initials. A third version is that it was a now-lost Indian word, "okheh," meaning "all right" which was the way Woodrow Wilson always wrote it.

UNANIMITY

What is a caucus, as mentioned in Washington dispatches concerning congressional proceedings. A caucus is a meeting of the members of a single party to decide on joint action in regular session of all the party groups together.

The Nation's Money

Has the senate no voice in financial legislation? Oh, yes; as much as the house of representatives, once the necessary financial proposals have been introduced. The constitution only provides that financial bills must originate in the lower house of congress. They cannot pass, however, without the senate's approval. It can modify them, too.

JOHN BULL

Why is England called John Bull?

The first known reference to John Bull is to be found in "Law is a Bottomless Pit," a political satire by Dr. John Arbuthnot, a Scottish physician and writer (1667-1735), who gave the name to one of his characters, intended by him to typify the burly, bluff nature of the English.

5,350 FEET DEEP

What is the world's deepest lake? Lake Baikal, in Asiatic Russia, 5,350 feet deep.

Bo-Broadway

By JOSEPH VAN RAALTE

NEW YORK.—Frances Shelley, musical star, has been robbed of her Jools—Honest—and the guy who pawned them has actually been arrested.

What's the profession coming to!

A WISE INJUNCTION

An astute American publisher visited London some time ago for the purpose of closing a contract with a well known British scribbler. The word juggler submitted four plots and the one she liked the least the Big Book and Blurb Man accepted.

As Jarvis was handing him his hat, stick and gloves, the publisher uttered a final injunction. "And remember," he said, "when you write the story, keep constantly in mind the spirit of great Middle West America. Achieve that hazard and you're a success. I've been doing it for years and it has earned me many millions of dollars."

The editor was Willie Hearst. The scribbler was Rebecca West.

WHAT'S WRONG WITH THEATRE

Everybody else has had a crack at diagnosing the trouble with the theatre, so it's Blanche Yurka's turn now. Lend ear to Blanche:

"One thing that is a great hindrance to the theatre is the lack of a good play. The writing of a good play takes time and is difficult. The demand for an endless procession of mediocrity, to replace other mediocrity, is made necessary by the over supply of theatres."

Blanche is a great girl. Jed Harris once asked her what she thought was the secret of Arthur Hopkins' position in the theatre and she replied:

"He has the courage of his own good taste. He is not afraid of failure."

ANOTHER JANUARY THAW

Aunty Democracy At Her Best In Off Years

CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON—Aunty Democracy normally is at her political best in "off years."

When a president is to be elected, much oftener than not she gets licked. Her national ticket usually cheers some of her candidates' chances for the senate and the house of representatives. Between times (in off years) they generally have better luck.

This is one of those times, and one of the most interesting off years in American history.

It is an exceptionally exciting year, because President Hoover's administration may fairly be described as an experimental type; Mr. Hoover as decidedly a new kind of president.

If he is to make his experiment succeed, obviously he must have popular support.

The coming congressional elections will show whether he has it or not.

THE senate cannot possibly be very satisfactory to Mr. Hoover now. That the next one will be any more so is too much to expect, considering Aunty Democracy's customary off year strength. Even if the administration loses a senatorial friend or two, it need not count it a defeat—though it will be a serious annoyance.

The G. O. P.'s loss of half a dozen senate seats (which is conceivable) would be mighty bad business for the White House.

The most hopeful Republicans recognize the practical certainty of Democratic gains in the house of representatives. That, too, will not amount to a White House catastrophe if they are not immediately large gains. To be sure, the Democrats pretend to believe they will get control of the house, which certainly would make President Hoover look like a one termer; only it is highly improbable. Reduction of the G. O. P.'s majority of about 100 to a mere handful would threaten him.

ALL in all, the Democrats' 1930 prospects are pretty good—as a party.

Senator Daniel F. Steck's Iowa seat is the only one of importance that they seem inevitably doomed to lose. Of course Steck was a pure accident. His re-election would be a first-class miracle.

However, a few individual Democrats have fights on their hands. Their seats are safe for Aunty Democracy, but maybe not for those Democrats.

NEW MEXICO must be recognized as a state which is not a lead pipe cinch for any Democratic candidate; still, an off year is not the time one would expect to see it slip out from under Senator Sam G. Bratton.

Neither is it a likely time for the slightly doubtful state of Tennessee to escape Aunty Democracy's clutches. It is not such safe betting ground that it will elect Senator William E. Brock, who holds his seat only by appointment; some rival Democrat may take it away from him.

Senators Bleas of South Carolina, Harrison of Mississippi, Ransdell of Louisiana and Robinson of Arkansas appear as good as renominated and re-elected.

Senator Walsh is a dry from a wetish state; nevertheless all indications are that he has it securely in his hip pocket.

ONE would say that a statesman never was surer of a renomination

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

By MRS. MARY MORTON

WASHINGTON—Aunty Democracy normally is at her political best in "off years."

When a president is to be elected, much oftener than not she gets licked. Her national ticket usually cheers some of her candidates' chances for the senate and the house of representatives. Between times (in off years) they generally have better luck.

This is one of those times, and one of the most interesting off years in American history.

It is an exceptionally exciting year, because President Hoover's administration may fairly be described as an experimental type; Mr. Hoover as decidedly a new kind of president.

If he is to make his experiment succeed, obviously he must have popular support.

The coming congressional elections will show whether he has it or not.

THE senate cannot possibly be very satisfactory to Mr. Hoover now. That the next one will be any more so is too much to expect, considering Aunty Democracy's customary off year strength. Even if the administration loses a senatorial friend or two, it need not count it a defeat—though it will be a serious annoyance.

The G. O. P.'s loss of half a dozen senate seats (which is conceivable) would be mighty bad business for the White House.

The most hopeful Republicans recognize the practical certainty of Democratic gains in the house of representatives. That, too, will not amount to a White House catastrophe if they are not immediately large gains. To be sure, the Democrats pretend to believe they will get control of the house, which certainly would make President Hoover look like a one termer; only it is highly improbable. Reduction of the G. O. P.'s majority of about 100 to a mere handful would threaten him.

ALL in all, the Democrats' 1930 prospects are pretty good—as a party.

Senator Daniel F. Steck's Iowa seat is the only one of importance that they seem inevitably doomed to lose. Of course Steck was a pure accident. His re-election would be a first-class miracle.

However, a few individual Democrats have fights on their hands. Their seats are safe for Aunty Democracy, but maybe not for those Democrats.

NEW MEXICO must be recognized as a state which is not a lead pipe cinch for any Democratic candidate; still, an off year is not the time one would expect to see it slip out from under Senator Sam G. Bratton.

Neither is it a likely time for the slightly doubtful state of Tennessee to escape Aunty Democracy's clutches. It is not such safe betting ground that it will elect Senator William E. Brock, who holds his seat only by appointment; some rival Democrat may take it away from him.

Senators Bleas of South Carolina, Harrison of Mississippi, Ransdell of Louisiana and Robinson of Arkansas appear as good as renominated and re-elected.

Senator Walsh is a dry from a wetish state; nevertheless all indications are that he has it securely in his hip pocket.

ONE would say that a statesman never was surer of a renomination shaking all the time, until butter is melted. Let stand in oven five minutes. Then remove outside shell and inner at the same time. Boil until soft.

Winter Vegetables

This is the time of year when root vegetables plan an important part in the daily menus. It is the time when green succulent vegetables are more scarce and so more expensive.

Great care must be taken in the preparation and serving of these vegetables, as there is so much prejudice against them. Especially is this true of onions, turnips, squash, carrots and cabbage.

There are many attractive ways of serving these good foods instead of just boiling them. Try some of the different recipes and see how the family responds. Don't be stingy with the butter and cream in seasoning them; an extra bit of butter will never be missed.

Often turnips are not relished or greeted with a very friendly feeling, but try cutting the cooked turnips in small cubes and combining them with peas in a good cream sauce, and see the difference. Or fix whole carrots by browning them in butter, instead of creaming them. You will find them an acceptable change.

Peter's Adventures

By Mrs. Florence Smith Vincent

WHO COMES HERE? UNCLE MERRY GREAT-EYE

Things are not always what they seem. And Peter was to find Snap-Beetle was not quite so conceited as he appeared. The Tumble-Bugs were sunning themselves. Biffer was chasing a butterfly round and round in circles, and the boy and Snap-Beetle were seated side by side on a stone, doing nothing at all, when suddenly Snap-Beetle hopped to his feet and pointed with his claw:

"Look, cousins!" cried he. "Yonder comes Merry Uncle Great-Eye. If you think I am clever, wait until you find out what Uncle Merry can do. He puts me 'n the shade, entirely."

Sure enough, a stranger was approaching. As he drew nearer Peter noticed the fellow seemed to wear an eye in the middle of his back. Queer place for an eye! Queer fellow, too! He neither walked nor crawled, but hopped and skipped toward them.

"Good afternoon, nephew!" the stranger greeted Snap-Beetle, who waved. "You must have fallen into good company, for you are on your feet. I see. Hello, cousin! There you are, Tumble-Bugs and young Gun-Beetle! Well, well, glad to see you all. How goes it with you?"

The jolly chap leaped to join the group, and suddenly he spied Peter.

"Who have we here?" he demanded, and looked the boy up and down from head to foot, then turned sharply upon Biffer. "Your doings, I suppose, youngster! Somebody you have picked up, unless I'm much mistaken. A human, by his form, and yet never in all my long life have I seen a human so very little."

"Guessed right the first time!" chuckled Biffer. "And his size should tell you what he is—a friend. Come on, Uncle Merry Great-Eye. Show the boy what you can do. Leap for us, won't you?"

Next: "The End of the Trail."

Diet and Health

By LULU HUNT PETERS, M. D.
Author of "Diet and Health" and "Diet for Children"

His Cause Downright Cussedness

"DEAR DOCTOR: What would you say causes a person to be grouchy? I am the mother of three small children. I had a serious operation three years ago, but I am alright now. But out of a clear sky a grouchy spell comes over me. I drink from four to five cups of coffee a day. Would this account for it? This may seem strange to you, Doctor, but I don't want to be grouchy. I want to be nice. If you could help me I would be so grateful as I don't want my family to hate me. Would you say this was nerves, too much coffee, or just plain, downright cussedness?"

"I might add that I am 5 ft. 1 in. tall, weigh about 100 pounds. I am always cold, and when everybody else is roasting I'm just comfortable."

"MRS. R."

I don't believe in downright cussedness, Mrs. R. There is always some reason for abnormal behavior, including d. c.—either psychic injuries or physical impairment of the nerves. The fact that you are cold all the time shows your circulation is sluggish, and it may be possible you are anemic. You are about 15 pounds underweight. That also is suggestive. Your nerve tissue is not properly nourished and that would account for its hair-trigger state.

Then, you are undoubtedly an excessive coffee drinker. Caffeine profoundly upsets some, and perhaps you come in that class. At any rate, I would cut it down to one cup a day, or even out entirely, and have milk instead. Perhaps if you gain these needed pounds, you'll notice an improvement in your disposition.

Of course, I have to suggest, as I do to all of you, that you have a checkup by a competent physician.

I also suggest you send for pamphlet on Reducing and Gai and our article on Anemia. See our rules for obtaining same.

"Dear Doctor: I am a widow the sole support of seven children. I am turned down in my work I believe it is because of my hair. Please help me."

I don't know what to tell Mrs. W. Most hair dyes contain harmful chemicals, and if absorbed by the skin they may not only cause a local and even general inflammation of the skin, but ger symptoms of poisoning. The dyes that are not believed to be dangerous are the vegetable dyes such as henna and walnut, but home application of these is not satisfactory.

I will say that there are where hair dyes have been used years with apparently no harm suppose the individual susceptible to the chemicals used, and per the resistance of the skin, are factors which determine whether dye poisons or not.

As you have no husband have seven children to support should have help from some of organized agencies that help such cases. Don't hesitate to a yourself of them.

If you are interested, we have article on the care of the Hair Scalp which you may have by lowing column rules.

Mrs. R.—Our pamphlet on Hygiene of Women tells how home treat that slight dischi you speak of. See column rules.

Mrs. B.—Practical nursing can be given in some of the Y. W. A's, I am informed.

Living and Loving

By MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

Men and women who consider themselves very modern and sophisticated think they believe in being exceedingly liberal in case of matrimonial triangles.

"Men are naturally polygamous," they say, and it is to be expected that loyalty to one woman all a long life is an impossibility. Women, too, excuse their lack of responsibility in the keeping of their marriage vows on the strength of a "modern" attitude on this subject.

It is usually those who have not suffered from disloyalty in their mates who talk thus, or those who are too proud to show their real feelings. Those who have known the bitterness of faith destroyed are not apt to be flippant on the subject.

"DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: In regard to Ruth E's letter, how my heart goes out to the poor girl. The same problem confronts me now, and I do not believe any decent woman will look and think as much of a man that has been untrue to her."

I have just recently found out that a neighbor woman had turned my husband's head. I am on the verge of a nervous breakdown, and I feel that life is not worth living, although my husband says he is deeply devoted to me and has a weakness that caused him to be led away.

"Oh, Virginia Lee, I do not feel that all men could be like that when their wives have been pals to them as I have. It has killed all my love for him, but as I have five children I feel that I must just live for the sake. I am just 31 and my husband says I am all he cares for. Do you think I should stay? I would like to hear from both mothers and fathers."

"CRUSHED MOTHER."

The only way you can overcome the hurt feeling is to think that everyone sins in some way, and your husband is no exception to the rule. The same thing might happen to you, and if it did, you could completely forgive his transgression. He has evidently realized his mistake and is sorry. Keep your home for the children's sake and for your own and your husband's.

Stifle Love When Man is Married

I pick up one letter which was brought in my morning mail and read that a young girl is in love

Sometimes I grow discouraged when I see the women who come to me for one sort of beauty aid or another because they cannot see the sort of aid they need most. Their skins, perhaps, are already quite "nice," and as they are proud of their complexions they take unusually good care to keep them so. Hair, eyes, hands, make-up, all are faultless, but oh, their figures—especially their hips!

Just because a woman is a woman, she doesn't have to spread at the hips. If she spreads, or thickens there, she should do something to counteract it—to take off the added pounds that show so bulky, especially in the new fitted, princess silhouette.

Women are naturally broad in the hips, which is all the more reason for keeping superfluous fat away from this region. It is true that this is a most difficult spot to reduce, yet I have seen it done, and without expensive steaming, rolling or electric bath cures.

The old, familiar knee-chest exercise is still an effective and much-used hip-reducing method. Lie flat on the floor, bring one knee to your chest and clasp it with both hands or arms. Then pull yourself in this fashion to a sitting position, still clasping the knee. Lie down and repeat with the other knee.

with a married man. "Don't ad me to give him up, because I ca she wails.

Another in the same mail is f a married woman whose husband enamored of another woman. "Has tried to be everything a can be," she writes, and they "so happy" until this girl came between them.

Always the same excuse when mate strays from the paths of alty. "I'm misunderstood at hor. And that old, shopporn whine a hearing every time.

Novels frequently make the rial triangle a glamorous thing ample warrant for the illicit makings. There are times, of co when it is excusable. But it's pretty safe rule for ordinary hu beings to follow, that when not is married a "hand's off" polle best. Still, I can't help but ma make up your mind that you gaud no happiness from such a uation—nothing but excitme and many times, shame.

SPORT SNAP SHOTS

FRAMED
by Phil

The famous non-scouting agreement—one of the football reforms which came into being only a few years ago—has already gone by the board, it would seem. When Tad Jones was head coach at Yale and Bill Roper of Princeton agreed that scouting was an evil thing and that henceforth each would refrain from the practice. Under the terms of this arrangement, Yale and Princeton would not scout each other, nor would Yale and Princeton scout any other opponent. Harvard, by refusing to join, upset the plan to some extent, but several other colleges signed the agreement.

During the 1929 season Yale and Princeton still held to their arrangement, but just about there the matter ended. Yale then contented to break the pact with West Point, again weakening the reform movement. Now each time the Yale football eleven swings into action, army officers, armed with sketching boards and other paraphernalia, seat themselves high up in press seats at the Yale Bowl and give the proceedings the once over. On Mondays in the coach's room of the gymnasium under the bluffs at the Point, their reports are handed in and studied with extreme care. This ceremony is reciprocated by Yale and the same procedure is followed at Old Eli with perhaps a trifle less military precision.

So long as football remains the game it is, scouting will be a part of it. One noted authority has the following to say on the subject:

"At every big college, the staff of coaches has a supplementary group of men whose names seldom get into the papers, but who are an important part of the coaching equipment. These are men assigned to various opposing teams for weeks before the date of the game.

"Enemies of scouting say that it tends to lessen the initiative of the players. Roper has felt strongly on this score. 'We have found,' he said last season, 'that non-scouting has been working out toward giving the men who play the game the chance to use their heads as each situation comes up.' Friends of scouting usually reply as Gilmour Doble of Cornell did when questioned at the height of the furore over this reform: 'You can't teach the average college boy enough football now when there is scouting. It would be an impossible job if you abandoned the practice.'"

The reasoning is that if you don't scout a team, you have only to teach them everything, for there is no other way of being prepared for what your opponent may do. "The neutral attitude has been expressed by Chick Meahan, the very smart little man who runs New York University football: 'I'll give any coach in the country my plays if he wants them. If he has the team to stop them, it's all right with me. I'll even give him my signals. Heaven knows it's hard enough to teach a team its own signals and keeping it from mixing them up. I wouldn't want to try giving it another team's on top of that.'"

Victor Kolb, former Xenia Central High coach for three years before "Pinky" Wilson succeeded him, who is at Columbus studying how to become a bigger and better lawyer or doctor, we forget which, is playing quite a bit of basketball on the side. Vic, who played basketball at Ohio Wesleyan and was chosen All-Ohio running guard in the Ohio Conference in 1924, is player-coach of the Kay Jewelers in the Capital City League and is also well up among the leading scorers in the loop.

FRANCE AND ITALY MAINTAIN STANDS

LONDON, Jan. 21.—Whatever small hopes there might have been of persuading France and Italy to accept auxiliary ratios commensurate or even slightly larger than their present battleship ratio were completely dissipated today as the five-power naval disarmament conference swung ponderously into motion.

Preliminary conferences between the American, French and Italian delegates demonstrated the utter futility of such a hope, and as a consequence, the United States, at least, is prepared to give considerable support to the French claims for recognition as a naval power of the first order.

ELEAZER

Miss Mary Smith spent the week end in Dayton, the guest of her cousin, Mrs. Winfield. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lewis and Mr. and Mrs. Emory Oglesbee attended the funeral services of Mr. John W. Swisher, in Dayton, Saturday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis and Mr. and Mrs. Oglesbee gave several vocal numbers at the services.

Eleazer Church members will hold their monthly social meeting at the church Friday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph R. Mason entertained the Rev. C. A. Arthur at dinner Sunday evening. Miss Velma Smith, who underwent an operation for the removal of her tonsils last week, is improving nicely.

FOUR O. S. U. PROFESSORS HONORED

DR. W. M. McPHERSON

DR. M. B. HAMMOND

DR. H. H. MAYNARD

DR. G. A. BALE

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 21.—Proof of the high standing of members of the Ohio State University faculty is seen in the election of four of them to the presidencies of national associations in their respective fields.

On January 1, Dean William McPherson, of the graduate school, took office as president of the American Chemical Society, said to be the largest scientific society in the world. It has more than 16,000 members.

During the holidays, Prof. M. B. Hammond and H. H. Maynard, of the college of commerce and administration, were chosen the presidents, respectively, of the American Economics Association and of the National Association of Teachers of Marketing.

Prof. G. A. Bale, of the ceramics department, here, is president of the American Ceramic Society.

The four have a total of seventy-five years of service to their credit on the teaching staff at Ohio State. Dr. McPherson has been here thirty-eight years, Dr. Hammond twenty-six years, Dr. Maynard seven years, and Dr. Bale has been on the faculty since 1926.

What manner of man is this Aladdin of boxing, who can rub the wishing lamp and make the little genie do his will? An insignificant man in some ways, typical of Broadway with his spats and the inevitable derby cocked over one ear. He has the ready tongue of Broadway, too, and its patter is his patter—whimsical, ironic, assured.

He is small, dapper, with the figure of a boy and eyes that are very old with all of the things they have seen. They are black eyes, hard when you look directly into them and flat in their expression. Deep lines furrow his countenance. These represent experience as much as age. He wasn't young fifteen years ago but his hair is as the raven.

This is the Johnston the eye sees. Underneath, we come upon a study of great contrasts. His humor is proverbial and apparently spontaneous. But I suspect that every move is studied. He is self-assured, if not polished; always interesting, if not always pleasing. He makes it a point to be interesting, even if he has to affect a whimsical humor at his own expense. When he has to fight, he can be bitter, caustic. He is an impenetrable adversary, who can hate you and know exactly why he does it. Like the veriest freshman.

A good hater, one might think he was almost friendless. Yet it is his friends who are supposed to have made him what he is. The father of a large family and a devoted parent, he yet seems to be always on or near Broadway. A perennial "dry," he is far from unknown to the night life of the town.

Perhaps his enemies outnumber his friends, although this is a controversial point. Just how much he knows about boxing also is debatable. What he knows of politics is not. He is a consummate politician. He has been around boxing long enough to know all there is and I believe there is little he doesn't know about it. He used to fight himself in the old days but promptly discovered that the man who did the actual fighting was in a ruble's racket. There was nothing unsporting about this conclusion.

A strange man? Yes, often. But an un-smart man? Almost never.

What manner of man is this Aladdin of boxing, who can rub the wishing lamp and make the little genie do his will? An insignificant man in some ways, typical of Broadway with his spats and the inevitable derby cocked over one ear. He has the ready tongue of Broadway, too, and its patter is his patter—whimsical, ironic, assured.

He is small, dapper, with the figure of a boy and eyes that are very old with all of the things they have seen. They are black eyes, hard when you look directly into them and flat in their expression. Deep lines furrow his countenance. These represent experience as much as age. He wasn't young fifteen years ago but his hair is as the raven.

HATS OFF TO MR. JOHNSTON!

Scott's Manager Has Faculty Of Making Something Out Of Nothing In Boxing World

By DAVIS J. WALSH

I. N. S. Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—Some deny with a laugh that the man is insured against failure by an unknown underwriter; others ignore the matter and manage to smile very knowingly. But whether fact or fancy dictate these contrasting opinions, the result is unmistakable. James J. Johnston has become the most powerful manager of the sport of boxing ever known—greater than Kearns, Billy De-lane, James A. Brady, Muldoon,

Billy Gibson, Tom Jones, Billy

Nolan.

They were great because, mostly,

they were able to get what they wanted. Johnston does even better than that. It seems he never gets what he doesn't want.

There is supposed to be a story behind that, a story that tells of secret liaisons, and hocus pocus of a kindred strain. It may be told some time but not by me. My rubber heels are all worn down and dark glasses don't match my compexion, which is practically allaster.

All I know is that Johnston, who in the old days seldom brought in a winner, either as a promoter or manager, has taken two losers, during recent years and made them win for him in a great, big way.

One of them was Mike McTigue, a broken-down ex-champion who couldn't beat anybody. Johnston had him winning from heavyweights and the thing wound up by McTigue being voted back into the very title he formerly had lost.

The other Johnston miracle is Phil

Scott, the English heavyweight.

One year ago, Phil was presented to be a wash up. Since then, he has beaten Camacho and won on a foul from Von Porat, neither of whom is a ranking heavyweight.

Presto! Nothing up the sleeve but a lot of linen. Scott is declared into the semi-finals of the heavyweight championship tourney. Phil wanted to get rid of Johnston a year ago. He couldn't then. He wouldn't now.

What manner of man is this

Aladdin of boxing, who can rub

the wishing lamp and make the little genie do his will? An insignificant man in some ways, typical of Broadway with his spats and

the inevitable derby cocked over

one ear. He has the ready tongue

of Broadway, too, and its patter is his patter—whimsical, ironic, assured.

He is small, dapper, with the

figure of a boy and eyes that are very old with all of the things

they have seen. They are black eyes, hard when you look directly

into them and flat in their expression. Deep lines furrow his countenance. These represent experience as much as age. He wasn't young fifteen years ago but his hair is as the raven.

This is the Johnston the eye

sees. Underneath, we come upon a study of great contrasts. His humor is proverbial and apparently spontaneous. But I suspect that every move is studied. He is self-assured, if not polished; always interesting, if not always pleasing. He makes it a point to be interesting, even if he has to affect

a whimsical humor at his own expenditure. When he has to fight,

he can be bitter, caustic. He is an impenetrable adversary, who can hate you and know exactly why he does it. Like the veriest freshman.

A good hater, one might think

he was almost friendless. Yet it is his friends who are supposed to have made him what he is. The father of a large family and a devoted parent, he yet seems to be always on or near Broadway. A perennial "dry," he is far from unknown to the night life of the town.

Perhaps his enemies outnumber

his friends, although this is a controversial point. Just how much he knows about boxing also

is debatable. What he knows of politics is not. He is a consum-

mate politician. He has been around boxing long enough to know all there is and I believe

there is little he doesn't know

about it. He used to fight himself in the old days but promptly

discovered that the man who did

the actual fighting was in a rub-

le's racket. There was nothing

unsporting about this conclusion.

A strange man? Yes, often. But an un-smart man? Almost never.

What manner of man is this

Aladdin of boxing, who can rub

the wishing lamp and make the

little genie do his will? An insignificant man in some ways, typical of Broadway with his spats and

the inevitable derby cocked over

one ear. He has the ready tongue

of Broadway, too, and its patter is

his patter—whimsical, ironic, assured.

of Broadway, too, and its patter is

his patter—whimsical, ironic, assured.

He is small, dapper, with the

figure of a boy and eyes that are

very old with all of the things

they have seen. They are black

eyes, hard when you look directly

into them and flat in their expression. Deep lines furrow his countenance. These represent experience as much as age. He wasn't

young fifteen years ago but his

hair is as the raven.

This is the Johnston the eye

sees. Underneath, we come upon

a study of great contrasts. His

humor is proverbial and apparently spontaneous. But I suspect that every move is studied. He is self-

assured, if not polished; always

interesting, if not always pleas-

ing. He makes it a point to be interesting, even if he has to affect

a whimsical humor at his own expenditure. When he has to fight,

he can be bitter, caustic. He is an

impenetrable adversary, who can

hate you and know exactly why he does it. Like the veriest freshman.

A good hater, one might think

he was almost friendless. Yet it is

his friends who are supposed to have made him what he is. The father of a large family and a

devoted parent, he yet seems to be always on or near Broadway. A

perennial "dry," he is far from

unknown to the night life of the town.

Perhaps his enemies outnumber

his friends, although this is a controversial point. Just how much he knows about boxing also

is debatable. What he knows of

politics is not. He is a consum-

mate politician. He has been around boxing long enough to

know all there is and I believe

there is little he doesn't know

about it. He used to fight himself in the old days but promptly

discovered that the man who did

the actual fighting was in a rub-

le's racket. There was nothing

unsporting about this conclusion.

A strange man? Yes, often. But an un-smart man? Almost never.

MARKETS LIVE STOCK

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK
CHICAGO, Jan. 21.—Hogs—Receipts, 45,000; market, 15¢ to 25¢ lower; top, 10.25; bulk, 9.75 to 10.25; heavy weight, 9.40 to 9.85; medium weight, 9.50 to 10.25; light weight, 9.75 to 10.25; light lights, 9.70 to 10.20; packing sows, 8.80 to 9.10; 10.20 to 10.25; holdovers, 4.00.

Cattle—Receipts, 9,000; market, 15¢ to 25¢ lower; calves, receipts, 3,000; market, steady; beef steers: good and choice, 13.50 to 15; common and medium, 10 to 13; yearlings, 10 to 16; butcher cattle: heifers, 8.50 to 14.50; cows, 6.5

TELLING the WORLD'S NEWS with PICTURES

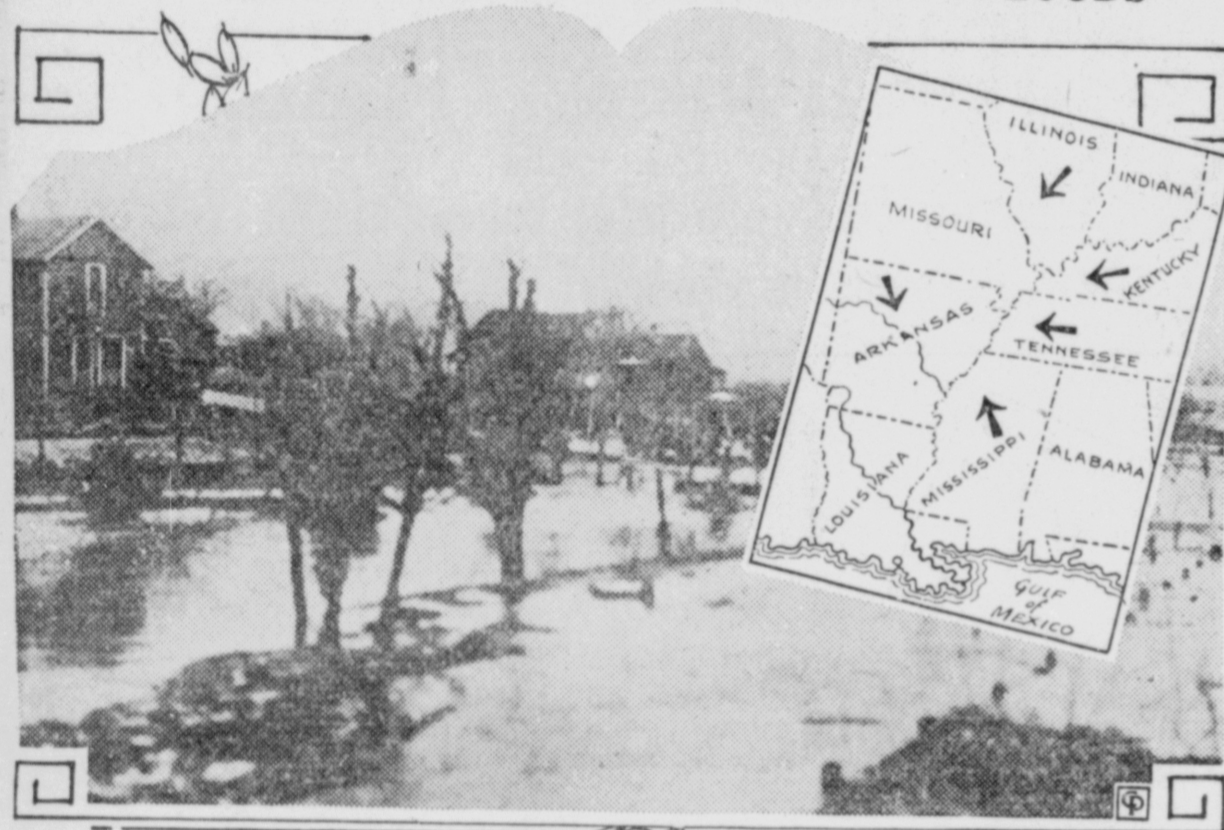

NATION'S DRY LEADERS AT ANTI-SALOON CONVENTION

Nearly 5,000 delegates and interested laymen are participating in sessions of the twenty-fourth national convention of the Anti-Saloon League of America, in Detroit, beginning Jan. 15. Among the prominent convention figures are (1) Dr. F. Scott McBride, general superintendent of the league; (2) Florence E. Allen, judge of the supreme court of Ohio, who is to speak; (3) Mrs. Ella A. Boole, president of the W. C. T. U.; (4) Dr. Howard Hyde Russell, founder of the league; (5) William E. (Pussyfoot) Johnson, dry leader; (6) James M. Moran, U. S. prohibition commissioner, and (7) Senator Morris Sheppard of Texas, author of the eighteenth amendment.

LEEVE CREWS WORK TO STEM MISSISSIPPI FLOODS

Levee crews along five rivers in Arkansas, as well as in other states, Mississippi, Missouri, Tennessee, Kentucky, Illinois and Indiana, have been working feverishly to stem the tide of rising waters after a week of floods throughout the Mississippi valley. Map, inset, indicates sections where the flood peril is greatest. Photo shows the swollen Wabash in Indiana which has continued on a rampage forcing hundreds to flee to higher ground.

'SUNNY' CALIFORNIA DIGGS ITSELF OUT OF SNOW DRIFTS

"Sunny California" is digging itself out of a sample of New England weather during the winter months. When a sleet, hail, rain and snow storm visited the state recently, it paralyzed traffic as highways became impassable. Photo shows truck drivers attempting to shovel their way through from San Francisco to Los Angeles, and—there isn't a bathing girl in sight!

Arkansas Victim Identified

Miss Lena Waugh, also known as Mrs. L. D. Walsh, 35, of Little Rock, Ark., whose bullet-riddled and battered body was found in the woods, remained unidentified for a month following the discovery. William D. Walker, 32, of Wynne, Ark., is said to be en route to Little Rock to be questioned in connection with the murder.

French Leader Dies at Advanced Age

Emile Loubet, former President of France, died on his estate at Montelimar at the age of ninety-one. Monsieur Loubet, as the seventh president of the Republic, held the reins of government from 1899 to 1906. His most important administrative act from the historical viewpoint was the signing of the entente cordiale with Great Britain in 1904.

NAVY SALUTES CHINESE ADMIRAL

For the purpose of becoming better acquainted with foreign affairs, Chinese naval officials are making a world tour of naval bases. Photo shows Admiral H. K. Tu, right, with two members of his party, Lieut. Commr. M. H. Ching, left, and Commander S. C. Whong, center, at San Diego. The admiral was given a salute of 17 guns when he arrived at the naval air station, North island.

Society Woman Sues "Countess"

Mrs. Oscar Hammerstein, widow of theatrical producer, has put process servers on the trail of Mrs. Philippe du Brissac Hultar, formerly "Countess" Bronislawa Lamprecht de Petschenko. Her lawyer states that the legal action was taken to recover monies that the "Countess" owes his client.

Modiste Seeks $100,000 Heart Balm

"He took my measurement for an engagement ring, set the date for our wedding, and promised me a trip around the world. I trusted him. That is the reason, according to Dorothy M. Wilson, modiste, that Ralph L. Knapp, wealthy linen importer, and twice a candidate for Mayor of Los Angeles, is the defendant in her suit for $100,000.

Women Witnesses on Sena's Floor

Miss Ruth Patterson, of New York (left) and Evelina Southworth, of New Orleans, both silk experts, were the first women, other than members of Congress, to be admitted on the floor of the Senate while it was in session. Despite one of the oldest traditions of Congress, Vice-President Curtis ruled that the two women be allowed into the sacred chamber.

Roman Welcome to Future Rulers

A part of the monster crowd that gathered in the square beneath the balcony of the Quirinal Palace, upon which Crown Prince Humbert and his Belgian fiancée, Princess Marie Jose, made their appearance together with their respective parents. The cheering crowd not only filled the square but overflowed into the surrounding streets and may be seen extending far into the distance.

Charge Army Employs Sex Appeal Method

Representative Ross A. Collins (D.) of Mississippi, has charged the Army with using "sex appeal methods" to spread a militaristic spirit through the colleges and universities of the country. He plans to open a fight on the practice of naming girls honorary colonels of the reserve units at various colleges and the continued employment of hostesses in army camps.

Wins Death Suit

A Chicago jury has awarded $10,000 to Miss Jeanne Claire, of New York, above, for the death of her mother, Rosalie Claire, musical comedy star, who was killed when the automobile in which she was riding with a night club owner, Julian Black, crashed into a light pole in Chicago.

George H. Austin is probably the happiest man in the world today, with his wife, in their home at Rochester, N. Y., to which Austin returned recently after completely recovering from an illness of several months. One month ago Mr. Austin's heart stopped beating for the space of two minutes. Austin says he was "sure it was the end, when the blackness that is Death overtook" him. When asked if there were any visions of life after death, or even a glimmer of pearly gates, he answered, "Not a sign of them, there was only blackness."

Fights Pre-Nuptial Pact

Declaring that he and his wife entered into a pre-nuptial agreement—that he would not marry her unless she was capable of bearing children, Dr. Louis E. Mahoney, of Santa Monica, Cal., asked annulment of his marriage to Ida Mae Mahoney, of Boston. Both Dr. Mahoney and his wife are said to be socially prominent in Boston.

New Governor of Virginia

The recently elected Governor of Virginia, John Garland Pollard, whose inauguration took place Wednesday, January 15, with unusual gubernatorial pomp and ceremony. He succeeds Governor Harry Flood Byrd, brother of the famous Arctic explorer.

REV. FATHER KELLY GETS SPRINGFIELD CHURCH PASTORATE

The Rev. Dr. Francis P. Kelly, of the St. Paul's Catholic Church at Yellow Springs, has been appointed pastor of the St. Mary Church in Springfield, succeeding the Rev. Dr. John D. McGlinchey, who died recently, according to an announcement by church officials at Springfield Monday.

Most Rev. John T. McNichols, chancellor of the archdiocese of Cincinnati, made the appointment, which was announced by the pro-chancellor of the archdiocese to the Rt. Rev. Msgr. D. A. Buckley, V. G. dean of the archdiocese of Cincinnati, who made the appointment public.

Following theological study at Mt. St. Mary's Academy, at Norwood, O., the Rev. Father Kelly was ordained a member of the clergy in 1916. Before that he had graduated, in the class of 1910, from the University of Dayton. He received in 1923, following graduate study at the University of Dayton, the degree of doctor of philosophy.

The Rev. Father Kelly was born in 1892 at Escanaba, Mich. Subsequently he moved with his parents, John and Mary Kelly, to Dayton, where he lived at the university. His first office following his ordination was as assistant pastor of St. Andrew Church in Avondale, Cincinnati. While there he became actively interested in the student work at the University of Cincinnati and founded the Newman Club at that school. Recently he was honored by election to membership in Phi Kappa Fraternity, at the University of Cincinnati.

Father Kelly, while at Avondale, was named chaplain of Good Samaritan Hospital, a post which he held for three years.

Since he became pastor of the church at Yellow Springs three years ago, he has been active in building up affairs of the congregation at the St. Paul Church. It is unlikely, however, that the Rev. Dr. Kelly will have an opportunity to live in a new rectory which has just been completed beside the church in Yellow Springs.

He will conduct services for the first time at St. Mary Church Sunday, February 2.

The Rev. Father Kelly, who was in Dayton Monday to attend the funeral of his mother, Mrs. Mary Kelly, who died at her home in that city, announced that he has not yet received official notice of his selection for the Springfield pastorate.

MT. TABOR

The Misses Joan and Madeline Ford spent a few days last week with their grandfather, Mr. Harry Moorman of Jamestown.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Oliver and daughter, Reva Lucille of Dayton and Mrs. Maud Murry and son, Laur Eugene, of Xenia spent Sunday with Mrs. M. A. Strong.

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. St. John of near Paintersville spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. A. Hollingsworth and family.

The Loyal Sons' and Daughters' Sunday School classes were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. James Jones and family Friday evening. About forty were present. Refreshments of sandwiches, doughnuts and coffee were served. The following officers were elected by the Loyal Sons' Class for the coming year: president, Harvey Kyle; secretary, Chelsea Stoops; treasurer, James Jones. The February meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Riley Jones.

At the church Sunday, January 26—Sunday School at 10 a. m. prompt, F. M. Buckwalter, Supt.

MONEY!

The stuff that buys what you need, that pays pressing obligations, that sees you through the worst emergencies is

YOURS!

IF FAVORABLE RATES, SMALLEST PAYMENTS, MOST COMPLETE SERVICE

are what you have been looking for, you may be sure our money loaning system will meet with your approval.

Our plan is to make loans as YOU want them—not according to some plan of our own, which we require you to adopt.

Loans of $25.00 to $300.00 on personal property to any resident of Clark, Greene, Champaign or Logan Counties.

SPRINGFIELD LOAN CO.

35 1-2 E. Main St.
Phone 92
Over J. C. Penney Co.

THE OLD HOME TOWN

MARSHAL OTEY WALKER COULD EASILY HAVE CLEARED UP THIS TRAFFIC JAM, WHEN THE TWO VEHICLES LOCKED WHEELS—BUT THE HUMAN ELEMENT PROVED TOO MUCH FOR OTEY. (MORE DETAILS IN TOMORROW'S PAPER)

BYRD SUPPLY SHIP ARRIVES SAFELY

SALEM, O., Jan. 21.—The ship, City of New York, carrying supplies and first mail, has arrived safely at the base of the Byrd polar expedition at the South Pole, according to a radio message received here today from the expedition by George Morrow, local amateur radio operator.

PORT WILLIAM

The Missionary Society will meet at the home of Mrs. Will Stephens Thursday afternoon January 23. Mr. and Mrs. Orville Ellis were the Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Martin at Centerville.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Howell, who had gone to spend the winter at Hurricane, Alabama, have returned home having been called back on account of the serious illness of Mrs. Howell's brother, Mr. Charlie Davis at Clarksville.

Members of the Claybaugh school route are practicing for their play entitled "Airplane Passenger Station" and "The Flivver

Within A Week Baby Was Healed

Humble, Tex.—"My baby suffered from a very bad form of eczema which had failed to respond to many treatments I had tried. I used Resinol Soap and Ointment, and within a week my baby was healed." (Signed)—Mrs. J. K. Morrow.

Bothersome itching which the children scratch and so infect is quickly stopped with Resinol—a soothing, healing Ointment recommended by doctors. Resinol Soap used daily safely cures for baby's tender skin.

FREE Trial size package on request. Resinol, D. No. 50, Baltimore, Md.

Resinol

"Before My Baby Came"

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound puts new life into me and makes my work in the store and in the house easier. I took several bottles before my baby came and am always singing its praises to my friends. I recommend it for girls and women of all ages. It makes me feel like life is worth living, my nerves are better and I have gained pep and feel well and strong."—Mrs. A. R. Smith, 808 S. Lansing Street, St. Johns, Michigan.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound
Lydia E. Pinkham Med. Co., Lynn, Mass.

Family" to be given at the auditorium in the near future.

Mr. and Mrs. Harley Ellis were the Sunday dinner guests of the former's sister, Mrs. Veturah Linkhart and daughter, Miss Nora.

Mrs. Crawford of Reservoir spent the past two weeks with her daughter, Mrs. Will Stephens and son, Mr. James Crawford.

Supt. and Mrs. C. H. Williams of Highland were entertained at the home of Supt. and Mrs. Carl Shank Sunday.

The many friends of Mrs. Ruth Gordin Johnston will be sorry to learn of her serious illness at the Espey Hospital and they wish for her a speedy recovery.

The U. S. W. V. Camp Auxiliary members enjoyed a covered dish supper and social Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Cora Bence and daughter, Miss Elizabeth.

The ladies Sunday School classes will meet with Mrs. James Mason for their February social. Mrs. Mason, Mrs. Ora Bingamon and Mrs. Jennie Linkhart will be joint hostesses.

The many friends of Mrs. Ruth

NEW YORK'S NEW HOTEL LINCOLN
EIGHTH AVENUE, 44th to 45th Streets, TIMES SQUARE

Enjoy the Best
Modern scientific equipment and management make it possible for you to enjoy the best in New York at the Lincoln. Bath, shower, servitor and the "sleeping" beds imaginable in every room.

1400 Rooms—1400 Baths
$3—5 For One $4—7 For Two Telephone Lockawanna 1400

6 Imported China Cups and Saucers
Clip and save—
Read how to make this certificate worth 15 coupons
THIS white china has a lovely pattern of roses and forget-me-nots in natural colors with leaves of delicate green. Edges are lined with gold.

To get this lovely china set just ask your grocer for "Octagon" every time you buy laundry soap, soap powder, scouring cleanser, toilet soap for the bath, floating soap for the bath, and chips for your washer. Then save the coupons you get. Soon you will have enough to get this premium.

Present coupons to agent below on or before April 30, 1930
FRED F. GRAHAM CO.
17-19 S. Whiteman St. Xenia, Ohio

Yellow Springs

The Community Institute will be held Wednesday and Thursday in Bryan High School Auditorium. A program consisting of speeches, discussions and music has been prepared to which the public is invited to attend all the sessions. An evening program will be given Wednesday beginning at 7:30 with music by the county 4-H Club Orchestra followed by an operetta by boys of Bryan High School. The address of the evening will be given by C. H. Titlow. His subject will be: "The Agricultural Outlook". The officers in charge of the Institute are, W. J. Baker, president; Morton Dallas, vice-president and Earl Dunevant, secretary-treasurer.

The Misspah Class of the Presbyterian Sunday School gave a farewell party at the home of Mrs. Herman Coe, Tuesday afternoon in honor of their teacher, Mrs. J. H. Garlough, who has given up the class and gone to Clifton to spend the winter with friends. The afternoon was spent in guessing contests. The class presented Mrs. Garlough, twenty dollars in gold as a token of appreciation for the eighteen years she has been such a faithful teacher. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served to the forty guests present.

The members of the Methodist Church will serve a congregational dinner in the church dining room Tuesday evening. After dinner a program will be given.

Mrs. George Drake entertained with a bridge luncheon at the "Maples" Wednesday. There were twenty-four ladies present. The out-of-town guests were Mrs. Anna Little of Xenia and Miss Evelyn Murray of Chicago, Ill.

The W. C. T. U. will meet Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. N. Wolford. The subject of the afternoon talk will be "International Relations".

The Bryan High School Juniors went to Xenia Friday evening, where they played the Central Juniors at the high school gymnasium. The score was 39 to 19 in favor of the Xenia team.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Smith of Chester, W. Va., are announcing the birth of a son, born Thursday, Mrs. Smith will be remembered as Miss Ada Carlisle formerly of this place. Mrs. C. P. Adams was called to Newark this week on account of the illness of her father.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Peterson and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Hutsler returned home Sunday from a two-weeks' motor trip through Alabama and Florida.

Mrs. Lydia Denison is visiting her sister in London.

Edridge Layton of Bonnelsville, Alton and Ernest Dunevant of Springfield, spent Sunday with their aunt, Mrs. Dick Denison.

Mrs. F. M. Reynolds of St. Bernard, O., has been spending several days with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Clemens and family.

Bur J. N. Strain was in Pittsburgh last week in the interest of the college.

Mrs. Ethel Buck entertained the Daughters of the American Revolution Tuesday evening at 7:30 at her home. The regent, Mrs. Chas. H. Ervin, called the meeting to order and the chapter ritual was led by Mrs. Anna Wilson. Mrs. O. H. Milligan of Pittsburgh, Pa., was voted in as a new member. Delegates to the state conference at Oxford, March 31 are Mrs. C. H. Ervin and Mrs. I. C. Davis. Alternates, Mrs. Ervin Kyle and Mrs. W. A. Turnbull. The message from the president general was read by Mrs. H. C. Aultman, Mrs. I. C. Davis read a paper on Caroline Scott Harrison, who was the first president general of the American Revolution. She was the wife of Benjamin Harrison, the twenty-first president of the United States and was the daughter of John W. Scott, one of the founders of Oxford College for Women. Mrs. Buck was assisted by Mrs. Walter Corry and served dainty refreshments. Mrs. Corry rendered a vocal solo, "Love's Old Sweet Song" accompanied by Miss Dorothy Wolfe on the mandolin. The February meeting is a six o'clock dinner in honor of the men of the chapter. Mrs. W. W. Galoway and Mrs. Harry Hammon are the hostesses.

The brothers and sisters of Mr. J. H. Creswell spent Thursday at his home honoring his seventy-eighth birthday. There were three sisters and three brothers present. They are Mrs. Ida Stormont, Mrs. Sarah Kyle, Miss Mary Creswell, Mr. Will Creswell, Mr. Andrew Creswell, Mr. George Creswell. A beautiful dinner was served at noon.

Mr. F. B. Turnbull was in Columbus last week attending the annual meeting of the Ohio State Fair managers.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin McMillan

CEDARVILLE

Mrs. F. M. Reynolds of St. Bernard, O., has been spending several days with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Clemens and family.

Bur J. N. Strain was in Pittsburgh last week in the interest of the college.

Mrs. Ethel Buck entertained the Daughters of the American Revolution Tuesday evening at 7:30 at her home. The regent, Mrs. Chas. H. Ervin, called the meeting to order and the chapter ritual was led by Mrs. Anna Wilson. Mrs. O. H. Milligan of Pittsburgh, Pa., was voted in as a new member. Dele-

NOTICE

Redmen and Candidates Initiation on Thursday Evening

January 23
By Dayton degree team.
Everybody welcome.
Big Feed

SACHEM

J.C. PENNEY CO.

37-39 E. MAIN ST., XENIA, OHIO

Style Specialist
In Our Ready-to-Wear Dept.
January 21st to 25th

Beginning on Tuesday, January 21st and continuing throughout the week, we are glad to offer to our customers the service of Mrs. Johanna Phares, style specialist.

Mrs. Phares will be glad to discuss with you what is to be in style this coming season and assist you in selecting the style and color best suited to you.

For this event we have arranged to have a large showing of the newest dresses. Our specialized and expert buying assures our patrons of the best in style, quality and value.

You are cordially invited to see these dresses and receive whatever assistance Mrs. Phares and our associates can render you.

New Shades!

SILK HOSIERY

$1.95
$1.65 $1.50

You may choose these most popular shades in La France or Gotham Gold Stripe. Service weight, mid weight or sheer chiffon. Each number with dainty French heels.

Duskee
Afternoon
Wrought Iron
Romance
Sable

Almova
Gun Metal
Allure
Pawnee
Manon

JOBE'S

JOBE'S

JOBE'S

JOBE'S

JOBE'S

JOBE'S

JOBE'S

attended a district meeting of the State Undertakers Association last Friday evening at the General Denver Hotel in Wilmington, O. Mr. and Mrs. Ben Lloyd of Cincinnati, spent the week end with Dr. and Mrs. O. P. Elias.

Miss Katherine Hughes entertained the Young Ladies Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church at her home Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin McMillan

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin McMillan

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin McMillan

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin McMillan

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin McMillan

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin McMillan

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin McMillan

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin McMillan

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin McMillan

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin McMillan

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin McMillan

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin McMillan

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin McMillan

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin McMillan

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin McMillan

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin McMillan

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin McMillan

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin McMillan

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin McMillan

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin McMillan

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin McMillan

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin McMillan

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin McMillan

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin McMillan

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin McMillan

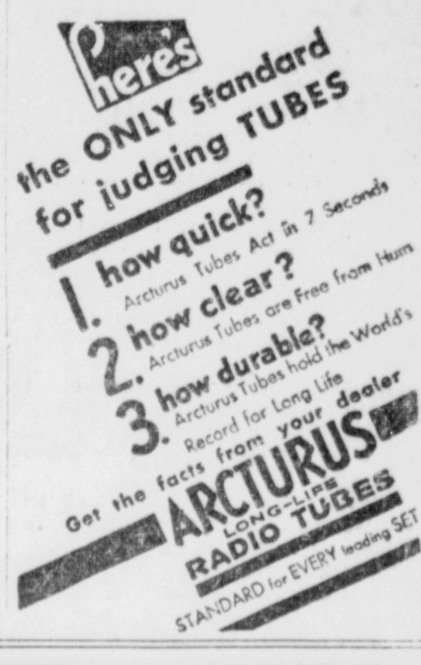

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin McMillan

Plumbing

Give us a call. See our large stock, every thing in the way of

Pipe, Valves and Fittings

All kinds of repairs for Plumbing or Heating Fixtures, and at prices lower than the larger cities. And you can see just what you are buying.

BOCKLET'S Line of Plumbing and Heating is known for its Quality, Quantity and Service. Thirty years in our own building, at 415 W. Main St., proves it.

Call Phone No. 360

THE BOCKLET COMPANY

Has It

Has It

Has It

Has It

Has It

Has It

Has It

Has It

Has It

Has It

Has It

Has It

Has It

Has It

Has It

Has It

Has It

Has It

Try the THE MARKET-PLACE of the MULTITUDE Use the

CLASSIFIED - to Buy - Sell - Trade - Rent - Lease - Invest or Find - TELEPHONE

Classified Advertising

THE GAZETTE IS THE MEDIUM

through which the general public can always have its wants supplied.

THE GAZETTE will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion of an advertisement. Notice of errors, typographical or otherwise, must be given in time for correction before next insertion.

Advertisements are restricted to proper classification style and type. THE GAZETTE reserves the right to edit or reject any advertisement.

Closing time for classified advertisement for publication the same day is 9:30 a. m.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

- 1 Card of Thanks.
- 2 In Memoriam.
- 3 Florists; Monuments.
- 4 Taxi Service.
- 5 Notices, Meetings.
- 6 Personal.
- 7 Lost and Found.

BUSINESS CARDS

- 8 Cleaning, Pressing, Laundering.
- 9 Dressmaking, Millinery.
- 10 Beauty Culture.
- 11 Professional Services.
- 12 Help Wanted—Female.
- 13 Help Wanted—Male or Female.
- 14 Electricians, Wiring.
- 15 Building, Contracting.
- 16 Painting, Papering.
- 17 Repairing, Refinishing.
- 18 Commercial Hauling, Storage.

EMPLOYMENT

- 19 Help Wanted—Male.
- 20 Help Wanted—Female.
- 21 Help Wanted—Agents, Salesmen.
- 22 Situations Wanted.
- 23 Help Wanted—Instruction.

LIVE STOCK—POULTRY—PETS

- 24 Dogs—Canaries—Pets.
- 25 Poultry—Eggs—Supplies.
- 26 Horses—Cattle—Hogs.

MISCELLANEOUS

- 27 Wanted To Buy.
- 28 Miscellaneous For Sale.
- 29 Groceries—Meats.

RENTALS

- 30 Where to Eat.
- 31 Apartments—Furnished.
- 32 Apartments—Unfurnished.
- 33 Rooms—With Board.
- 34 Rooms For Rent—Furnished.
- 35 Rooms For Rent—Unfurnished.
- 36 Houses—Unfurnished.
- 37 Office and Desk Rooms.
- 38 Miscellaneous For Rent.
- 39 Wanted to Rent.
- 40 Storage.

REAL ESTATE

- 41 Houses For Sale.
- 42 Lots For Sale.
- 43 Real Estate For Exchange.
- 44 Farms For Sale.
- 45 Business Opportunities.
- 46 Wanted—Real Estate.

AUTOMOTIVE

- 47 Automobile Insurance.
- 48 Auto Laundries—Painting.
- 49 Tires—Tubes—Batteries.
- 50 Parts—Service—Repairing.
- 51 Motorcycles—Bicycles.
- 52 Auto Agencies.
- 53 Used Cars For Sale.

PUBLIC SALES

- 54 Auctioneers.
- 55 Auction Sales.

DEAD STOCK

- 56 Horses—Cows, etc.

1 Card of Thanks

FAMILY OF late Mrs. Alice Holmstrom wishes to thank relatives, friends and neighbors for the beautiful flowers and kindnesses shown during her illness.

3 Florists; Monuments

CUT FLOWERS and potted plants. R. O. Douglas, Phone 549-W.

8 Dry Cleaning, Laundry

WANTED—Washings to do at home, or will work by day. 239 Columbus Ave. Phone 1082.

11 Professional Services

PICTURES DEMAND expert finishing. Take your films to Daisy Clemens, Room 9, Steele Bldg.

FELT HATS cleaned and blocked, $1. Made-to-measure suits and overcoats. $22.50 and up. Valet Press Shop.

12 Roofing, Plumbing

PIPES—Valves and fittings for all purposes. BOCKLET'S line of plumbing and heating supplies are the best. The Bocklet-King Co. 415 W. Main St.

16 Repairing, Refinishing

EXPERT SHOE repairing on men's and ladies shoes at Style's Shoe Store, E. Main St.

17 Commercial Hauling

BEST MOVING and storage service guaranteed work. Get our rate for any kind of job. Call 728 for quick service. Lang Transfer and Storage Co., Detroit and Second Sts.

NOTICE—Hauling of all kinds

Furniture carefully moved. Mendall Transfer, Phone 566-R.

CALL 710 for Mouser Transfer Co.

Furniture carefully handled. Stores disconnected and set up.

18 Help Wanted—Male

AUTO SALESMAN—See Morris, 228 Dayton Ave. Phone 1295.

WANTED—Experienced 5th Hand

House furnished. Ph. 58 James-town. John Jenks.

25 Poultry—Eggs—Supplies

BABY CHICKS—Ohio accredited from blood tested stock. Hatches every week. Townsley Hatchery, Phone 129.

BABY CHICKS—order them early to save disappointment. Call us now. Phone 129. Townsley Hatchery.

MONEY TO LOAN ON EASY PAYMENTS

On any kind of security you have to offer—HOUSEHOLD GOODS, LIVESTOCK or AUTOMOBILES.

AMERICAN LOAN CO.

Steele Bldg. Terms 4 Mo. To 4 Yrs.

JANUARY CLEARANCE

Sale

WALL PAPER Prices Slashed

Be Sure To Bring Room Sizes

E. B. CURTIS

38-40 E. Main St.

25 Poultry—Eggs—Supplies

WHITE and Barred Rock Baby Chicks, hatched Jan. 20th. Ohio accredited and blood tested. Just a few left. Come and see them. Townsley Hatchery, Inc. Ph. 129.

A FEW barred rock cockerels. Ph.

70-F-5. A. I. Swindler.

26 Horses—Cattle—Hogs

THREE JERSEY cows, one fresh. Two heavy springers. A. E. Beam, R. No. 1 Xenia. Phone Co. 32-F-2.

27 Wanted To Buy

WANTED—Good clover or slightly mixed hay. Phone 206-R. John Frye.

28 Miscellaneous For Sale

One 4x12 Champion evaporator, new smoke stack, pans and furnace in fine shape. Price $150.00.

300 12-gal. galvanized buckets, each20c

300 galvanized 14 inch lids, each10c

1 5-bbl. hauling tank . $20

1 20-bbl. storage tank . $25

Phone 18 F 4

W. C. Smith,

New Burlington, O.

6 USED HEATING stoves, all good models, traded in on Heatrads. Priced cheap. W. C. Smith, Phone 18-F-4 New Burlington, O.

COAL SPECIALS—High grade stove or furnace coal, $6.25 per ton, delivered; Kentucky lump, $7.00 per ton, delivered; W. Va. lump, $7.00 per ton, delivered. Lampert Coal Co., N. Detroit St. Phone 523.

A 200-EGG Buckeye incubator, in good condition, cheap. Call County 80-F-12.

1926 OVERLAND SIX sedan, General balloon tires, new duco, motor perfect. A real buy. See Morris, 221 Dayton Ave.

TRY BLUE SUCOCO Hi-power gasoline at regular gas price. Citizens Service Station, W. Second St.

DELCO LIGHTING plant. Motor overhauled and a new set of batteries. Will trade for cattle, hogs or sheep. Ray Garringer, one mile west of Bowersville.

COMPLETE SET of timbers and roofing tools. P. R. Scott, 30 W. Main St.

DESKS, typewriter, adding machine, safe and glass showcase. Frank B. Scott, 139 W. Main St.

THREE NEW high grade furnaces at greatly reduced prices. Will inspect. Frank B. Scott, 30 W. Main St.

LET FUDGE repair your furniture.

We will call and deliver. 23 S. Whitman St. Phone 754. Fudge Used Furniture Store.

29 Musical—Radio

BRUNSWICK console phonograph, cheap. Adair Furniture Store.

GOOD USED battery sets. Call Galloway Radio Shop, N. King St. Phone 48-W.

MAJESTIC—all-electric radio and Kaiser battery set. In A-1 condition. Eichman Electric Shop, W. Main St.

PIANOS FOR SALE—$5.00 monthly.

John Harbino, Allen Building.

VICTROLAS, RADIOS, RECORDS—and sheet music at Sutton Music Store, Green St.

30 Household Goods

RUGS—6x9 and up, priced as low as $2.00. Cotton blankets $1.75 pair. Mendall, W. Main St.

BOY—ice box, dining room

table, Dinges, St. Phone 474-W.

RUGS—6x12, $2.00. Phone

677-W.

34 Apartments—Furnished

FURNISHED APARTMENT of three rooms. 302 E. Market St.

35 Apartments, Unfurnished

FIVE ROOM apartment, modern, newly decorated throughout. Call 728.

38 Rooms—Unfurnished

MODERN—Five room apartment, two blocks from court house. Phone 132-J.

FOR THE LOVE OF PAT

By C. L. WEBB

© 1929

READ THIS FIRST:

Lieutenant Rex Dallard, Dr. Frank Gordon and Nurse Margery Lynne, suspecting a plot to rob Patricia Blair, Red Cross driver, and her twin brother, Jimmy, of their fortune, unite forces in Paris after the close of the World War. Patricia has been kidnapped. Jimmy, a victim of aphasia, disappears, and Herbert Maxwell, guardian of the twins, arrives in Paris to take a man posing as Jimmy back to New York to claim half of an immense fortune. When hope seems lost, Patricia is discovered. She reads to her three friends a letter left by Maxwell, in which he treats her kidnapping in a light manner. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XIV

"I've always more than half trusted Herbert Maxwell," continued Pat, thoughtfully. "And I know that Jimmy did, too. But he was dad's legal advisor for years, so Jimmy and I, of course, thought he must be all right or that he would have named him as our guardian and executor of the Blair holdings."

"Many a better man than he has succeeded to the call of money that talked in eight figures!" avowed the lieutenant.

"What does he mean, Pat, by the old, old story of Patricia and the limousine?" queried the curious Margery.

The twenty million dollar twin just threw back her head and laughed. "Yes, I'll tell you the story," she said, with her lovely smile. "The old, old story of the closed limousine, to which Maxwell refers in his line, large ignorance. Listen carefully."

"Once upon a time—which was seven years ago," she began, "there were two poor orphans from Ohio with only a thousand dollars a week apiece to spend and twenty million to inherit upon their twenty-fifth birthday. They were then eighteen, and cursed with a guardian who was eternally advising them in the ways that poor little rich girls and boys should go."

"Well, these poor orphans, Jimmy and his twin sister, Pat, went to New York to see what they might see. They looked it all over from Columbus Circle down to Broadway, and they saw Broadway, upper and lower, and they saw Midway Plaisance. They even saw Chinatown and Chatham Square. They went up in the Woolworth tower."

"But, they weren't having any real fun, these two. And just on account of that guardian, he was the 'winkler on the eyeball'—the 'pest'—he was 'nosey' and wanted to know everything. They finally—or at least Pat finally—decided to jolt the guardian into minding his own business."

"It was something like this: With Jimmy's help, and the help of some friends—so-called—poor little me was kidnapped—and while old Maxwell was with me, too, in appearance it was much like my real experience here. Only there in New York there was a ransom tied to the tail of the 'kidnaping' like the cracker on a whip! That was to impress Mr. Maxwell."

"But the old fox refused to be impressed or to kick in with the ransom." Then we were crazy enough to try it again. And again old Max balked. He's a wizard!—"And that, my dear Margie," concluded Pat, with a sigh, "is what old Max meant by 'the old, old story of the limousine.' And what a chance for him to use the reference in his letter, not knowing, however, that I was to learn of his hand in my Paris kidnapping!"

That evening the quartet had dinner in the same restaurant in which Pat and the doctor had eaten their after-theater supper on the night of the kidnapping. The girl stood on the same spot at the curb from which she had been jerked into the limousine. In her eyes was a brooding look that worried Rex Dallard. She was wondering, he knew, if she still dared hope that her brother was yet among the living. They had talked very little on the subject, although it was one that each member of the quartet had in mind very frequently.

On the morning following the dinner Dr. Gordon left Paris on a secret trip to Havre, returning the next day. He brought news that Pat Blair's heart, the hope that her brother, Jimmy, was still alive. The same news precipitated plans for all four of them to start for New York on the first available ship.

This information included a copy of the sailing list from the steamer that had carried Herbert F. Maxwell and his ward, James K. Blair. The list included, besides the names of Maxwell and Blair, those of Mrs. Mary Duane, nurse, and John K. Brown, private American soldier, an "aphasia victim," who closely resembled, according to the office clerk, the other "aphasia case," James K. Blair.

"It was Jimmy!" cried Pat, on the instant following the doctor's report. "Who else could it have been? For some reason of his own, old Fox took Jimmy along!"

One week after the developments brought about through Dr. Gordon's visit to Havre, Lieutenant Dallard, the doctor, Margery Lynne and Patricia Blair boarded a steamship at Brest, as first cabin passengers, the ship sailing that night for New York.

Lieutenant Dallard found the air more than crisp on the ship's forward deck at eight o'clock in the morning. It was the seventh and last day of the voyage.

He leaned against the rail in the lee of a cabin and peered at the hazy shore line away to the westward. In the eastern sky gleamed a round, wintry sun, its feeble rays glinting coldly across the Atlantic. Seagulls wheeled, circled and plunged, each waging an individual fight for its breakfast. The plaintive cries of these birds of passage seemed to strike a responsive chord in the lieutenant's heart that winter's morning. Gloom hung heavy like a blanket of thick, gray fog over his fond dream. He had told himself, the last of his dearest hopes.

By which token it is plain that Rex Dallard was in a sad state of mind. And the pitiful truth in the whole dismal structure was that the object of his "shattered dream" had never, as yet, been so much as Patricia Blair herself, known the cause of his despairing mood, she would have been tremendously surprised.

Not that being made love to was a pastime new to her. From the earliest days of her adolescence the male of the species had found Patricia easy to look upon.

And therein lay the secret of Patricia Blair's indifference to the blandishments of Man. Her knowledge of life had been gained in the hard school of personal experience. What she had learned—or thought she had learned—of the genus homo and his ways had bred in her belief that money was his god, the final means to all his ends.

While Jimmy, her twin brother, and she had been born with, as the saying goes, "silver spoons in their mouths," they had been semi-orphans from the hour of birth. The raven-haired, brown-eyed little mother, whom their father had shipped, had "gone down into the valley of the shadow" for them, and had come up from the depths again just long enough to look once into the tiny faces of her two babies. From that moment, almost, the twins had paid, bought and paid in any medium of exchange they might have happened to possess, for every scrap of affection that had come to their love-starved hearts.

As children Jimmy and Patricia had idolized their father. He, in his turn, had loved them; but the love he returned was not the warm, demonstrative love they saw in the home of some of their less wealthy friends. Thus, even as youngsters, they had come to associate "much money" with large "love-shortage." It was from the tender shoots of these childhood observations that Patricia Blair, in later years, fashioned the structure of her misapplied belief—or disbelief—in the animal, man.

(TO BE CONTINUED)

On The Air From Cincinnati

TUESDAY

6:00—Orpheum program.

6:20—Movie Talk.

6:30—Yeong's Orchestra.

6:50—Polar Ray Talk.

7:00—Tommy and Willie.

7:25—Better English.

7:30—Modern program suggestions.

7:32—Hotel Aims Orchestra.

7:45—Max Wocher Sunshine period.

8:00—Tom Collins Jr. program.

8:15—Automobile Club Talk.

8:30—True Romances program.

9:00—Paul Whitman hour.

10:00—Graybar's Joe and Vi.

10:30—in a Russian Village.

11:00—Time and Weather, Signs and Superstitions.

11:02—Osborne's Orchestra.

11:30—Paramount Radio Review.

6:00—Cincinnati Club Orchestra.

6:30—Dynamo Club Diners.

7:00—Little Jack Little.

7:15—Tony's Scrap Book.

7:30—Seth Parker's Old-Fashioned Singing School.

8:00—Verk Bubble Blowers.

8:30—Libby Program.

9:00—Johnson and Johnson program.

9:30—Nunn-Bush program.

10:00—Armed Band.

11:00—Chime Reveries.

12:00—Mid—Christian Orchestra.

12:30 a. m.—Variety hour.

1:00-2:00—Thirteenth Hour insomnia.

WSAI:

7:00—Voters' Service.

7:30—Cincinnati Club Orchestra.

8:00—Songs of the Seasons.

8:30—Music Makers.

9:00—Eveready hour.

9:30—Happy Wonder Bakers.

10:00—Blue Ridge Mountaineers.

10:30-11:30—Radio-Keith-Orpheum program.

WCKY:

7:00 p. m.—Amos 'n' Andy.

7:15—Talks on the Frozen North.

7:30—Sport review.

7:40—Violin solos.

7:55—Knights of Columbus.

8:00—Pure Old Band.

8:30—Harmony Four.

9:00—Starr Musical gems.

9:30-10:00—Golden Gems.

WEDNESDAY

The Theater

The dramatic possibilities of the Xenia Little Theater will be thoroughly tested this week when the organization offers J. M. Barrie's "The Old Lady Shows Her Medals." "So's Your Old Antiques," one-act plays at City Hall theater. The date is Thursday night.

Barrie's war-time drama is entering a sudden vogue, which is altogether confined to the little theater groups and the college dramatic societies. Gary Cooper play the leading role in a new version of feature length from the Barrie opus although, following the custom of the industry, the name has been changed to "Seven Day Leave". The longer name is harder on the electric light bill.

Barrie wrote his play in three acts, each tense with dramatic situations, but the action is frequently so subtle, that a workmanlike presentation by a Guild cast, could be quite a feather in the cap of the organization.

The story is that of old lady Elsie, a London charwoman, who has hidden her secret longing for a personal heart interest in the past war, by creating out of a Scotch Highlander and regales her neighbors with stories of his noble prowess.

Because of the similarity of her name, she mentally adopts Kenneth Dowie, a member of the "Old Watch" and secretly sends him gifts under another name. Finally she exhibits letters supposed to have been written her by a mind-made son, but she is thrown into consternation when she discovers, finding Kenneth Elsie on leave in London, brings to his supposed mother.

Dowie resents the proprietary airs of the charwoman, but, left alone with him, she wins him to friendship and he spends his time with her. Before departing, she makes her the beneficiary of his pension and, the last scene, in his personal things are revealed to her at his death at the front, is packed with dramatic possibilities.

Miss Elsie Canby is said to bring serious contemplation to the eyes of the charwoman and Harry Higgins is said to bring considerable understanding to his role as

Twenty Years '10- Ago -'30

The general drop in the prices of eggs and butter is gratifying news. Local dealers are paying 30 cents for eggs and 25 cents for butter.

Mr. Amos Stiles, who has moved to Xenia and has located on Leaman St., expects to start a dry line.

Mr. Albert Protzinger, Dayton, the architect in charge of construction of the Y. M. C. A. annex, has obtained the promise of the contractors to have the building ready for occupancy by next Thursday. The gymnasium is completed and the heating plants are in place.

Mr and Mrs. Thomas Butler, Cincinnati Ave., are happy over the advent of a half pound daughter at their home.

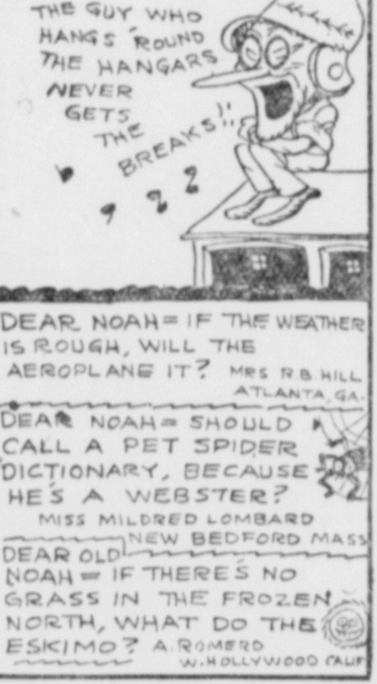

WEEKLY EVENTS

WEDNESDAY:
 Kiwanis.
 O. O. F. No. 52.
 K. of C.
 D. of A. No. 160.
 Rotary.
THURSDAY:
 K. of P.
 Moose.
FRIDAY:
 A. A. No. 140.
 Odd Men.
 Church Prayer meetings.
SATURDAY:
 Red Men.
 Eagles.
SUNDAY:
 Unity Center.
 S. P. O. E.
 S. P. O. E.
 K. K. K.

GALLY'S SALLIES

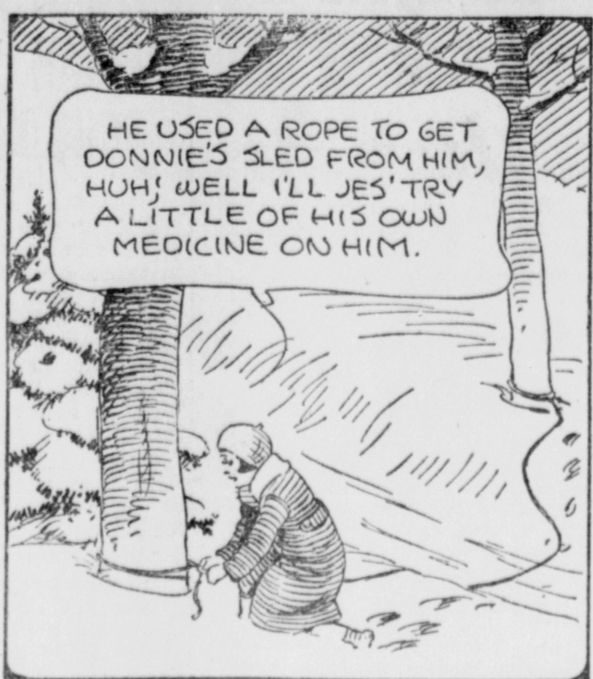

NOAH NUMSKULL

JUST AMONG US GIRLS

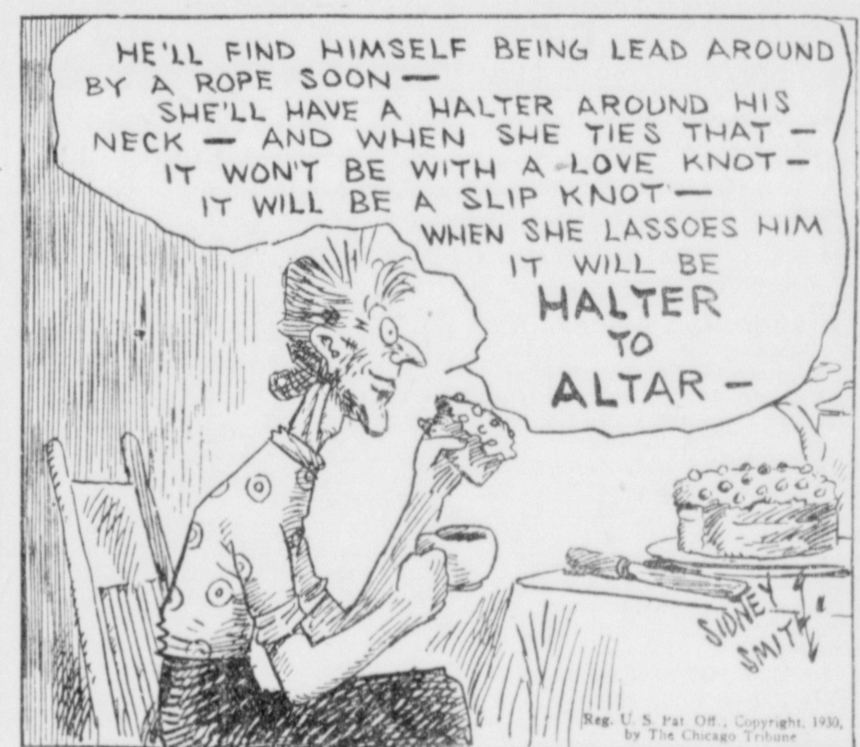

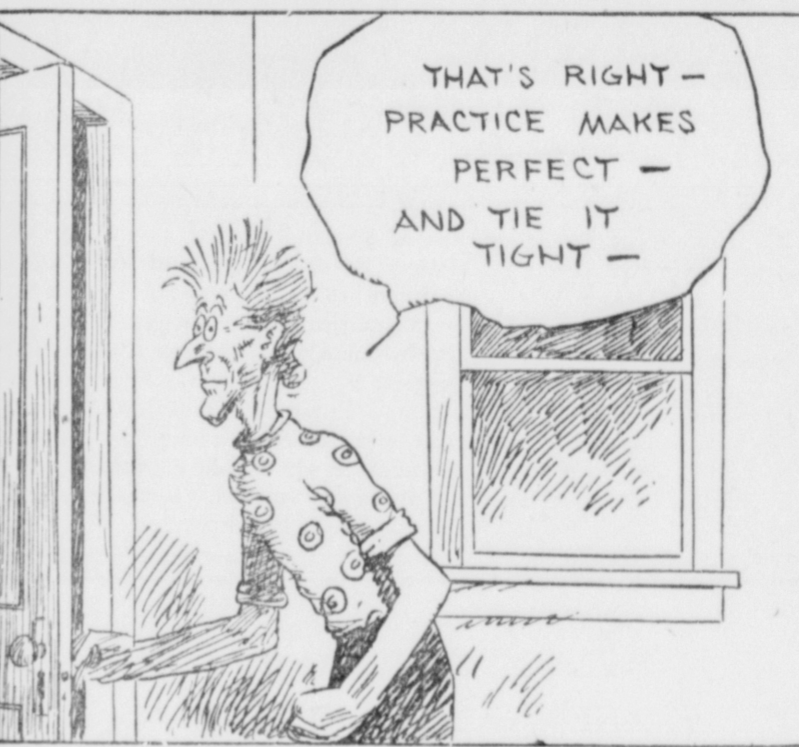

BIG SISTER—Deep Laid Plans

By LESLIE FORGRAVE

THE GUMPS—Live and Learn.

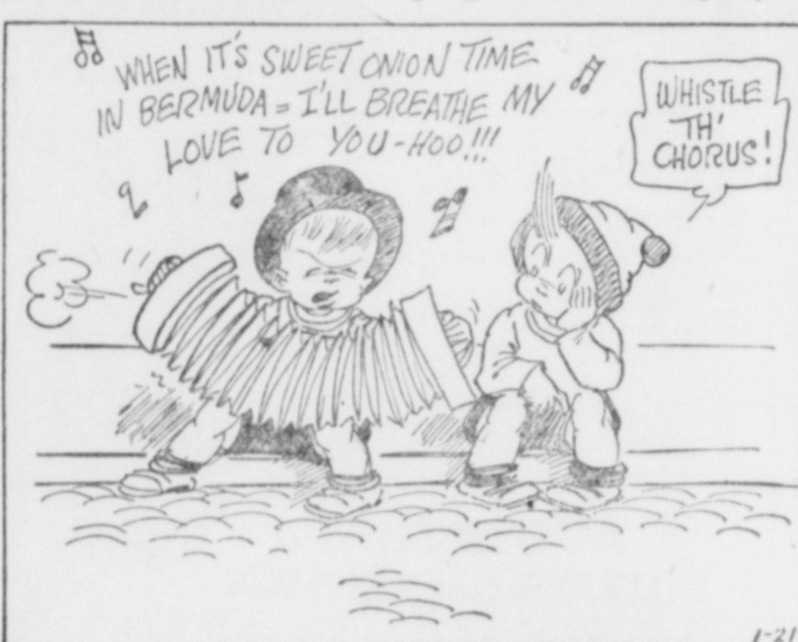

By SIDNEY SMITH

ETTA KETT—The Plot Thickens!

By PAUL ROBINSON

MUGGS MCGINNIS—Keeping Mother Company

By WALLY BISHOP

HIGH PRISURE PETE—These Loyal Hollywooders.

By SWAN

"CAP" STUBBS—It's Surprisin'!!

By EDWINA

HUSBAND GAVE HER ONE DRESS CLAIMS WIFE; COURT NEWS

Complaining that in sixteen years of married life her husband has bought her only one dress, Deia Conger has brought suit in common pleas court for divorce from Elmer Conger on grounds of gross neglect of duty. They were married August 6, 1913. Two children were born of the union of which one is living. The plaintiff seeks custody of their 2-year-old minor child and wants to be restored to her maiden name of Deia Storer.

SUES ON ACCOUNT
Suit for $1,844.37, alleged balance due on an account, has been filed in common pleas court by J. E. Lewis against Frank Shigley, as executor of the estate of Lou Boren, deceased.

PETITION DISMISSED
Petition filed in common pleas court by C. J. Faulkner against Abe Newpoff and others has been ordered dismissed by the court on the ground the plaintiff is not the owner of a Frigidaire attempted to be replevined in the suit and now in the possession of the defendants. Parties to the action waived the right to a jury trial and consented to have the court decide the matter.

JUDGMENT BY DEFAULT
The Greene County Lumber Co. has recovered a judgment by default for $640.17 against Clifford Dice in common pleas court.

WINS JUDGMENT
W. A. Schneider has been awarded a judgment for $42.29 in a suit against Anna Newpoff in common pleas court. The defendant consented to have the case submitted on its merits to the court without the intervention of a jury.

TEMPORARY ALIMONY
In the case of Minnie Mendenhall against Carl Mendenhall in common pleas court, on application of the plaintiff, she has been awarded $5 a week temporary alimony and also exclusive custody of their minor child during pendency of the action.

DISMISS CASE
Having been settled, the suit of Ada Hebbel against C. C. Constable has been dismissed in common pleas court.

BLACK ON GREY FOR NEW AUTO LICENSES

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 21.—Ohio's 1931 license plates will have a pearl grey background and black lettering according to Secretary of State Clarence J. Brown. Tests of various enamels for both shade and elasticity will be conducted at the Ohio Penitentiary. Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Chalmers R. Wilson said that the new color combination was selected because of its contrast and visibility. The plates will be manufactured at the Ohio Penitentiary as in previous years.

WICKERSHAM WILL BE HEARD ON RADIO

Problems of law enforcement will be discussed by George W. Wickersham, chairman of President Hoover's commission on observation and enforcement of law, in an address through the National Broadcasting Company system, at 8:30 o'clock, Wednesday night.

The address is Mr. Wickersham's first on the air since he was named to head the commission. It is being broadcast under the joint auspices of the National League of Women Voters and the National Broadcasting Company.

Mr. Wickersham, formerly attorney general of the United States, has been directing the activities of the commission for the past six months and his address will deal with the American situation as his commission has found it. WEAF and a network of NBC stations will broadcast the address which will last a half an hour.

BELIEVE MANY DOGS ARE NOT LICENSED

It is estimated by County Auditor P. H. Creswell that more than 200 dogs in Greene County were without 1930 tags Tuesday. Monday was the last day for purchasing the licenses at the regular rate and the price of tags was increased $1 Tuesday.

Tags for male dogs which formerly sold for $1.50 will now cost $2.50 and the price of licenses for female dogs has been raised from $4.50 to $5.50.

More than 1,900 tags had been disposed of at the county auditor's office up to and including Monday and nearly 1,000 more are believed to have been sold by deputy commissioners of motor vehicles in five villages of the county. Last year about 3,200 dog tags were sold.

AVOID UGLY PIMPLES

Does a pimply face embarrass you? Get a package of Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights, if you are like thousands of others.

Help cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them.

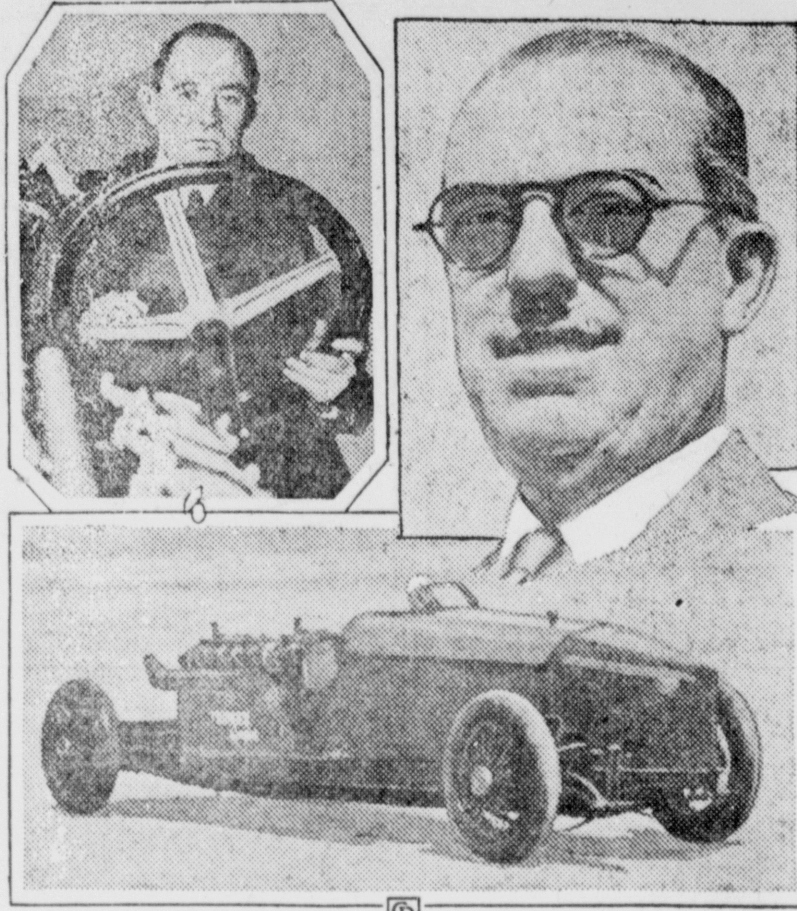

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

Thousands who take Olive Tablets are never cursed with a "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, or a bad disposition, pimply face.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound; known by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 15c, 30c, 60c.

YANKS REGAIN SPEED LAURELS

With Major Sir Harry Segrave of England himself predicting an American victory soon at Daytona Beach, Fla., site of world auto speed tests, return of the championship to this side of the water appears near. Sir Harry believes American engineers should be able to create a car faster than his Golden Arrow, which set the record of 231.36 miles an hour at Daytona Beach last year. Above are J. M. White of Philadelphia, left, and Harry Miller of Los Angeles, reported interested in the forthcoming March speed tests. Bottom is White's Triplex special, last American car to hold the record, winning when driven by the late Ray Keech in 1928. It was wrecked causing death of Lee Bible, the driver.

AUTO STOLEN FROM XENIAN WRECKED; CHILDREN INJURED

A "joy ride" in an automobile stolen from a Xenian nearly ended in tragedy for eight colored school children ranging from 13 to 17 years in age at Springfield Monday afternoon when the machine in which they were riding upset on E. High St., near Burnett Road after it had skidded and crashed into a curb.

The automobile, a Chrysler, valued at $1,000, had been driven to Springfield by William Graham, Xenia, but was the property of his brother, Fred. It was wrecked.

Alfred Ruckner, 16, who was driving the car, admitted to Springfield police that the auto had been stolen from its parking place on Center St., south of Main St., about 10:15 a. m. Monday.

According to police, Ruckner stole the auto and went to the Schaefer Junior High School, where he picked up seven young friends and took them for a ride. A short distance from the school Ruckner lost control of the machine and it hit a curb and overturned.

One of the passengers, Ida Mae Upshaw, 17, was taken to the City Hospital with a fractured leg and several others received minor injuries.

Ruckner will be turned over to juvenile court authorities for prosecution, police announced.

AUTO CATCHES FIRE

Damage estimated by firemen at $25 was caused when a sedan belonging to W. H. Hoverstick, 826 N. King St., caught fire while parked in a garage in the rear of his home at 7:15 o'clock Monday night. The alarm was the fifth to which the fire department has responded this year. Chemicals were used to extinguish the blaze, centered around the vacuum

PAIN GETS BETT
after Mustero's—soothe —is applied once every ho
5 hours. You should ever better after first applicati
MUSTERO

The Criterion's ANNUAL WINTER SALE

of men's, young men's and boys' suits and over coats is now on—Also some very good reduction on men's and boys' sweaters, leather coats, men's wool golf hose, and some real bargains in fine but discontinued numbers in men's hats. Special sale of boys' raincoats and extra good bargains in men's fine neckwear. Boys' suits and o'coats at the following sale prices:

$7⁹⁵ $10⁹⁵ $12⁹⁵ $14⁹⁵

The Criterion
Value First Clothiers
28 S. Detroit St. Xenia, Ohio

ADVANCE SHOWING OF OUR NEW SPRING LINE FOR MEN'S SPRING SUITS AND TOP COATS

Come in and make your selection now before the spring season opens and we will give you a discount as we want to keep our shop working during the dull season.

KANY

The Leading Tailor
N. Detroit St.
Up Stairs Opp. Court House
XENIA, O.

Be moderate AVOID THAT FUTURE SHADOW

AVOID THAT FUTURE SHADOW*

By refraining from over-indulgence, if you would maintain the modern figure of fashion

Fashion revels in the soft, enchanting curves of the modern figure. Don't sacrifice that graceful contour by permitting your eyes to be bigger than your stomach. Be moderate—be moderate in all things, even in smoking. Eat healthfully but not immoderately. When tempted to treat yourself too well, when your eyes are bigger than your stomach, light a Lucky instead. Coming events cast their shadows before. Avoid that future shadow by avoiding over-indulgence if you would maintain the modern, alluringly-rounded figure.

Lucky Strike, the finest Cigarette you ever smoked, made of the finest tobacco—The Cream of the Crop—"IT'S TOASTED." Everyone knows that heat purifies and so "TOASTING" not only removes impurities but adds to the flavor and improves the taste.

"Coming events cast their shadows before"

"It's toasted"

*Be Moderate!... Don't jeopardize the modern form by drastic diets, harmful reducing girdles, fake reducing tablets or other quack "anti-fat" remedies condemned by the Medical profession! Millions of dollars each year are wasted on these ridiculous and dangerous nostrums. Be Sensible! Be Moderate! We do not represent that smoking Lucky Strike Cigarettes will bring modern figures or cause the reduction of flesh. We do declare that when tempted to do yourself too well, if you will "Reach for a Lucky" instead, you will thus avoid over-indulgence in things that cause excess weight and, by avoiding over-indulgence, maintain a modern, graceful form.

TUNE IN—The Lucky Strike Dance Orchestra, every Saturday night, over a coast-to-coast network of the N. B. C.

© 1930, The American Tobacco Co., Mfrs.

Starts as easily in Duluth as in Miami

Winter means one thing in North Dakota, another in Indiana, and something else again where Louisiana skirts the Gulf. Shell 400 "Extra Dry" Gasoline means the same thing everywhere—quick starting regardless of the weather. Shell 400 "Extra Dry" is periodically adjusted to the climatic requirements of each region where it is sold. The adjustments are made all year 'round and are based on a study of 15 years of weather in every 50-mile circle on the map. The result is a weather-wise motor fuel which starts as easily in Duluth as in Miami... and assures uniformly fine performance everywhere.

STOP AT THE SIGN OF THE SHELL

QUICK STARTING!

SHELL 400 "EXTRA DRY" GASOLINE

Ought to cost more but it doesn't!

SHELL PETROLEUM CORPORATION